HIS STRENGTH WITH PEOPLE SECRET OF VICTORY.

REPUBLICANS ARE JUBILANT

CONGRATULATORY TELEGRAMS SENT TO WASHINGTON.

INFLUENCE IS ALL POWERFUL

President's Popularity Cause of Sweeping Republican Victory in New York County; Also of Kentucky Landslide The Election Results.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—President Roosevelt today received the following from Timothy L. Woodruff, dated New York:

"Our great sweep with a straight Republican ticket in Kings county, normally Democratic by 20,000, was accomplished by the use made of your unparalleled strength with the people. Some of our candidates had nearly 20,000 majority."

The following dispatch from Congressman-elect John W. Langley, dated at Pikesville, Ky., was received at the White House today:

"We won by 20,000. The mountains did most of it and the Roosevelt administration made it possible."

No statement or comment on the result of the election was made by President Roosevelt today.

Third Term Imperative.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Chairman Timothy L. Woodruff, of the Republican state committee, who wired the President today that yesterday's Republican victory in Kings county was due to Mr. Roosevelt's strength in Brooklyn, said tonight that he believed the demand would be such that the President would be obliged to accept a renomination. He said:

"I am of the opinion that the demand for the renomination of Theodore Roosevelt will be so strong next spring that the President will be obliged to accept a renomination. Every indication points to his being swept into office by an overwhelming vote.

"Under the leadership of Roosevelt in the nation and of Hughes in the state, the rank and file of the Independence League will, in my judgment, vote hereafter with the Republican party."

Hearst Eliminated?

The secondary results of yesterday's elections, particularly as they may affect the political fortunes of party leaders, were thrashed out at many political meeting places tonight. Tammany Leader Charles F. Murphy sees in the defeat of the Republican and Independence League fusion in New York county the retirement of William R. Hearst as a factor in local politics. Republican State Chairman Timothy L. Woodruff also believes that Mr. Hearst had "been everlastingly eliminated" as a political consideration and the Independence League vote will now go to the Republicans. Mr. Woodruff bases his prediction upon the result in Kings county, where the Independence League vote was lost sight of in the Republican victory over the Democrats. On the other hand, the league vote did not go a great way in helping the Republicans in Manhattan, where the fusion ticket was beaten by the straight Tammany candidates.

In 1905, New York county gave Hearst, running on a straight Independence League ticket for mayor, 123,-292 votes, against 140,264 for Mayor McClellan, Democrat. The Republican vote for William H. Ivens was 64,2[illegible]. Yesterday, the combined Republican and Independence vote in New York county was only about 180,000. If the Republicans claim to have gotten the greater part of this vote it is justified, the Independence League lost heavily.

Chairman Parsons, of the Republican county committee, who brought about the fusion, however, stands by his guns and tonight said that he would again favor fusion with the league under the circumstances that governed the present contest. He denied that he would resign the chairmanship under fire.

Fort Elected in New Jersey.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 6.—Frank S. Katzenbach, Jr., Democratic candidate for governor of New Jersey, tonight conceded the election of John Franklin Fort, his Republican opponent, by 7,000 votes, and made the following statement:

"From the somewhat incomplete returns furnished, I believe that Judge Fort has been elected. I have sent him my congratulations. I greatly appreciate the support given me and the efforts of my friends in my behalf."

Late returns do not change the complexion of the state senate, which gives the Republicans 14 to 7 for the Democrats.

Large Vote in Massachusetts.

BOSTON, Nov. 6.—Politicians throughout the state were much interested today in examining the returns from yesterday's election to consider the bearing on next year's contest. The Independence League maintained its place as a political body, while the so-called Antimerger party, by polling a trifle over 3 per cent of the total vote, also will be in the race next year to hold a convention and to place candidates on the official ballot. The plurality by which Governor Guild won his re-election, in revised figures today, placed at 104,351, the largest given the successful can- other hand the Democratic vote of 84,192 was one of the smallest in years.

George Fred. Williams, for 10 years, leader of the Bryan forces in Massachusetts, issued a statement tonight on yesterday's voting in this state. Mr. Williams was one of those Democrats who opposed Henry M. Whitney throughout the campaign. His statement in part follows:

Bryan Situation.

"We witnessed yesterday a most successful and spectacular political funeral, the merger was submerged, and Mr. Whitney and his coterie of discarded politicians went under with it. The pitiable showing of Mr. Whitney proves that the Springfield convention uttered the real sentiments of the Massachusetts Democracy. Mr. Hisgen (Independence League), and Mr. Bartlett (Antimerger,) together polled more Democratic votes than Mr. Whitney, 87,000 to 88,000. At the moment when the ballot committee outraged justice by its decision, 50,000 Democrats moved quietly out of the party into the Independence league; thousands voted for Governor Guild. Such slaughter of official irregularities has never been known in our state. For Mr. Bryan and the national Democratic party, this vote is mightily significant.

"The purpose of the Independence League is to protect the radical Democracy in case corporations shall cripple or defeat Bryan in convention. Godspeed the League in such work.

NO STRIKE IN BRITAIN

RAILROAD TROUBLE HAS BEEN SATISFACTORILY SETTLED.

Agreement Drafted by President of Board of Trade Signed by Society of Railway Servants.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The anticipated railroad strike throughout Great Britain, the idea of which caused so much concern to the British public, has been averted by an agreement drafted by David Lloyd-George, president of the board of trade, and signed at a late hour tonight by the chairman of the principal railroad companies and the representative of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants.

The agreement provides for the consideration of further matters in dispute, primarily by a sectional board of conciliation, representing the various grades of employes and the individual railroads. In case of disagreement, settlement will be reached by the board of conciliation and an equal number of men representing the full membership of the society. If the board and these representatives fail to reach a decision, the matter then must be settled by arbitration.

The directors of the railroads thus bind themselves to compulsory outside intervention in disputes with their employes. The board will, in every case, be composed of elected employes of the companies concerned, as well as officials of the various railroads.

The dispute, apart from its effect on the public business, has attracted the attention of the high officials of the government, even that of King Edward.

RAN MAIL-ORDER BANK

FRAUD CHARGED AGAINST ST. LOUIS PUBLISHER.

Collected $1,850,000 Through Advertisements Sent Through Mails in Women's Magazines.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 6.—Alleging that Edward G. Lewis had fraudulently collected $1,850,000 through the operation of his mail-order bank, the defunct Peoples United States bank of University City, and that he had loaned himself or his concerns $844,-000 of that money, the government today began the presentation of one of its cases against the former banker in the district court, before Judge John E. Carland. The jury was completed within 20 minutes after the opening of the afternoon session, and then Attorney Chester H. Krum of this city, special counsel appointed by Attorney General Bonaparte, made the prosecution's opening address to the jury. In addressing the jury, Attorney Krum for the prosecution, said:

"We shall show to you that Lewis devised and put into effect a mail order banking scheme, advertising in his Woman's Magazine and Woman's Journal inducements to get people to subscribe stock and make deposits and we shall show that he did not carry out those inducements. These publications, containing the advertisements and various additional literature and circulars, all with the intention of inducing people to invest in his scheme, went through the United States mail. Lewis, in advertisements at the time, said that his publications reached 2,300,000 families.

"At the time of the organization of this bank, known by various names, on November 14, 1904, this defendant had received $1,185,000 from these families to put into his scheme. His advertisements and his circulars all started that for every dollar put in he would put in one of his own. All he ever put in was enough to buy two shares of stock and that was because he had to be a stockholder in order to control the affair. He told his readers he had a private fortune. He told his readers in the same alluring advertisements that the loaning board of the bank would be composed of five directors of the best banks in St. Louis and it was composed of Lewis himself and four of his employes in the Lewis Publishing com-

VOTES OF UNIONS OVER COUNTRY UNANIMOUS.

ORDER WILL SOON BE ISSUED

OPERATORS HAVE BEEN OUT NEARLY THREE MONTHS.

MEN WANT TO RESUME WORK

Circular Prepared by National Executive Board of Commercial Telegraphers Union Is Sent Broadcast, Asking Permission to Call It Off.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—The national executive board of the Commercial Telegraphers Union of America today prepared a circular letter for issuance to all local unions asking them to vote upon the question of granting authority to the board to call off the strike, which has been on for the past three months. The letter will be sent to all locals tomorrow and the official order ending the strike will be issued as soon as two-thirds of the locals have signified their willingness to end the fight.

Chicago local No. 1 today voted to call off the strike and return to work unconditionally. A resolution was also passed by the Chicago local by a vote of 231 to 58, requesting the national executive board to end the strike.

New York Suspends Strike.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The telegraphers' strike in this city was indefinitely suspended by vote of local Commercial Telegraphers union tonight. After a discussion, during which a motion to ask the national officers to declare the strike off was defeated, resolutions were adopted declaring the strike against the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies suspended from November 7 and "until a full opportunity has been given the said telegraph companies to make good the assurance conveyed to us."

The strike for higher salaries was declared August 16, since which time the companies have refused to enter into any negotiations with the strikers.

Denver Favors Ending Strike.

DENVER, Nov. 6—For a calling off of the strike the commercial telegraphers union of this city voted unanimously this afternoon to call off the strike.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 6.—The striking commercial telegraphers of this city at a meeting tonight, declared the strike off. There were originally about 375 strikers here, but only 150 attended the meeting tonight. Of these it was said, only 75 will seek re-employment from the telegraph companies.

HITCHCOCK APPEARS ON STAGE

Missing Actor Eludes New York Police for Seven Days—Bail Is Fixed at $7,500.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Raymond Hitchcock, who gave himself up to the authorities today, resumed his role at the Astor theater tonight and was given a demonstration of welcome.

The actor looked haggard and ill and his voice was uncertain as he spoke his lines. Meantime his wife, who plays opposite him, was in tears, and with difficulty followed her cue.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Raymond Hitchcock, the actor, who disappeared several days ago, after he had been indicted on charges preferred by several young girls, appeared at the criminal court building today and went to the office of the district attorney. Hitchcock is under bond to appear in court this afternoon.

Since Hitchcock's disappearance, the police of the entire eastern section of the United States and Canada have been searching for him, but absolutely nothing of his whereabouts was known to the public until he appeared at the criminal court building today.

He went directly to the district attorney's office, from whence, accompanied by his wife and counsel, he was taken to the court of general sessions, where bail was fixed at $7,500.

FIVE KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Boiler of Dinky Engine at Iron Works in Steubenville, O., Goes Up—Several Hurt.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Nov. 6.—By the explosion tonight of a dinky engine boiler at the Labelle iron works here, five men were killed, three perhaps fatally injured and a portion of the plant, directly opposite the explosion, was wrecked.

The dead:

HARRY ANDREWS, engineer, aged 22 years.

CHARLES REED, engineer, aged 22 years.

WILLIAM SMITH.

DANIEL O'BRIEN, aged 30.

WILLIAM SCOTT, aged 35.

The injured:

RAILROAD DISPUTE SETTLED

Danger of a Strike in England Has Been Averted.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Richard Bell said tonight that the railroad dispute had been settled. Details of the settlement had not been given out up to a late hour.

It was understood at the conclusion of the negotiations tonight that the danger of a strike had been averted. The terms are satisfactory to both sides.

JURY IS DELIBERATING

INSTRUCTIONS OF COURT FAVORABLE TO NICHOLS.

Was Tried on Charge of Aiding and Abetting Wrecking of Allegheny Bank Two Years Ago.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 6.—The jury in the United States district court, before which Forrest R. Nichols, former secretary to W. H. Andrews, the former Pennsylvania politician who is now territorial delegate to Congress from New Mexico, was tried on charges of aiding and abetting the wrecking of the Enterprise National bank of Allegheny two years ago, retired today and is still deliberating.

Both Nichols and Andrews testified for the defense. Both had been intimate friends of Lee Clark, the cashier who committed suicide. The defense was that the bank had lost nothing through Nichols and that there was no intention to defraud in any of the transactions. Concerning two checks of $5,000 each, both testified that this was an accommodation transaction for Clark, who said he needed $10,000 to make up payrolls. Clark gave Nichols certified checks of the Enterprise bank, although Nichols had no balance in the bank and Nichols had these cashed at other banks and the money turned over to Clark. Andrews indorsed one of these checks.

Both Andrews and Nichols testified that they realized no benefit on these transactions. When the bank suspended, Nichols owed $370, which he paid the receivers.

Several court officials and other prominent men were called by the defense as character witnesses for Nichols. The charge of the judge was considered favorable to Nichols, the court instructing the jury that the intent of the participants must be considered with reference to the criminality of the transactions.

Charles [illegible], of the Enterprise bank, now serving a five-year sentence for his part in wrecking the institution, was brought from the Western penitentiary to testify against Nichols.

EXPLOSION KILLS TEN

BOILERS OF GERMAN TORPEDO BOAT EXPLODE.

Thirty of Vessel's Crew May Die of Injuries Details of Awful Accident Are Not Yet Known.

KIEL, Nov. 6.—The boilers of the German school ship Blucher exploded this morning while the vessel was near Murwick. It is reported that eight men were killed and twenty-two injured.

The Blucher is a torpedo school ship. She was built at Kiel in 1877 and usually has on board about 260 officers and men. Her armament consists of several old 5.9-inch Krupp guns and some smaller, quick-firing guns.

KIEL, Nov. 6.—Later it was stated that fifteen men had been killed and 30 dangerously injured by the explosion. At a late hour tonight, however, 10 bodies had been found on board the school ship and a roll call of the crew showed that no other men were missing. Several of the wounded men are not expected to recover. Three hundred of the crew were absent maneuvering with the tenders at the time of the explosion.

U. S. FUNDS ARE IDLE

SHOULD BE DEPOSITED IN NATIONAL BANK?

President of Chicago Great Western Railway Advocates Use of Uncle Sam's Money.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 6.—President A. B. Stickney of the Chicago Great Western Railway company, in a published interview, advocates a national bank in which the government shall deposit its treasury funds. He said:

"The official reports of the United States treasury show that on last Thursday, October 31, there was locked up in the subtreasuries, idle and useless, the enormous sum of $127,170,059 of actual cash, while all the banks in all the reserve cities of the United States had suspended cash payments and the movement of the crops had stopped and laborers are compelled to accept checks for wages instead of cash, all for want of currency, which want of currency the New York banks are trying to relieve by importing about $30,000,000 of gold, or about one-quarter of the amount held in the treasury idle and useless.

"Can any system of government banking be conceived which would produce more absurd results?

"Let us have a national bank which is not only good enough for the people to deposit their money in, but is also good enough for the government to de-

GENERAL CONDITIONS GOOD

Indications Point to Gradual Restoration of Normal Status in Financial World—Strength of Stock Market Reflex of Improved Feeling.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Bringing $10,-000,000 in gold to the relief of the banking and financial institutions of this country, the swift liner Lusitania is hurrying for New York at her swiftest pace. A report from the captain of the Lusitania received by wireless, at the Cunard line office in this city, says that at 10 o'clock today the ship was 913 miles east of Sandy Hook. The Lusitania left Queenstown at 11:30 a. m. Sunday, and according to this report she has averaged 24.50 nautical miles per hour. Continuing at this rate of speed the Lusitania should reach Sandy Hook bar at midnight Friday. If she accomplishes this it will reduce the record time for the passage from four days, 19 hours and 52 minutes to four days, 17 hours and 30 minutes.

$7,000,000 Arrives.

With no greater ceremony or care than if the ironbanded wooden boxes had contained so much weight in tin or other base metal, the more than $7,000,000 in gold brought to port yesterday by the steamer Kron Prinzessin Cecelie was transferred from the strong room of the vessel to Wall Street today. The gold coin, most of it in American eagles and double eagles, was taken to the United States subtreasury, while the bars of bullion were dumped at the assay office. The government immediately advanced to the bankers, to whom the gold was consigned, 90 per cent of the value of the shipment in bills and small currency. The other 10 per cent will not be paid over until the coin is weighed and until the bullion is both weighed and tested as to fineness.

Throngs of curious persons gathered at the steamship piers in Hoboken to watch the unloading of the millions, and at the subtreasury to watch the receipt of the precious metal.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The general conditions of the financial situation were favorable today. The runs on the trust companies had practically ceased under the encouraging influences of the support of the trust company committee; gold engagements were further increased, and the stock market rose buoyantly in recognition of these conditions.

Trust Company Situation Relieved.

The announcement by Mr. King, president of the Union Trust company, early in the morning that an agreement had at last been reached by which the Trust Company of America and the Lincoln Trust company were to deposit their stock in the hands of a committee of trust company presidents, and, in consideration of this, were to receive all the support required, finally cleared the air in regard to the trust company situation. Grave apprehension existed after the termination of the conference at Mr. Morgan's house at 3 o'clock this morning, that an agreement in regard to the two trust companies would not be reached, and that they might be subjected to a run too strong for their impaired resources. Now that this danger is removed, it is believed that the situation will gradually simmer down, with the continuous arrival of gold, until the stringency is converted into the plethora of reserve money in banks which usually follows a crisis.

Additional Gold Engagements.

Additional gold engagements were announced today of $1,000,000 on account of Lazard Freres, and $500,000 for Montreal. This brings up the total gold engagements for America, on the recent movement, to $37,500,000, which would afford the amount required for legal reserve against deposits of $150,000,000.

The gold which arrived yesterday was deposited today and that by the Lusitania will soon be in the vaults of the banks.

Where there is still some apprehension regarding the possible effort of the Bank of England to check the outflow of gold from London by raising its discount rate on Thursday, there is a strong feeling among conservative financiers here that the directors of the Bank of England will be very reluctant to fix a rate of discount which has not been touched since 1873. It might have been found necessary to overcome this reluctance if the Bank of France had not so generously dipped into its immense reserves, under the enlightened policy of Governor Pallain by the purchase of sterling bills to the amount of £3,000,000 to relieve the London market.

Stock Market Strong.

The strength of the stock market was the reflex of improved feeling throughout the financial community. It is believed that the stock market has pretty well discounted the worst and that prices are not likely to go much lower even in case of new disturbances. It is understood that the arrangements by which the committee of trust company of stock of the Trust Company of America and the Lincoln Trust company is only a temporary device to re-establish confidence.

What will be the ultimate disposition of this stock has not yet been seriously considered, but it is certain that the trust company committee and the clearing house committee will insist that these companies pursue in future a policy of the strictest conservatism, and shall not embark in any underwritings which are not capable of being converted readily into cash.

On Sound Basis.

The directors of the Lincoln Trust company had a protracted session tonight to consider the future policies of the company and to make plans to obtain new business. Frank Tilford, president of the company, said after the meeting that a statement concerning the company's affairs was in preparation and would be made public tomorrow.

Clark Williams, state superintendent of banks, announced tonight that because of the now satisfactory condition of the Trust Company of America and the Lincoln Trust company, he had withdrawn the officers of the state banking department from those institutions. He said he felt convinced that the situation was now in satisfactory shape and that no weak spots remain undisclosed.

J. P. Morgan was visited by several prominent financiers tonight, but so far as could be learned, there were no formal conferences.

BANK QUITS BUSINESS

FRISCO INSTITUTION FORCED TO THE WALL.

Growing Confidence Apparent Over City and Banking Business Is More Swift.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—The Citizens State bank, one of the small financial institutions of San Francisco, closed its doors today and announced through its president and principal stockholder, R. E. Ragland, that the bank had resigned from the clearing house and had decided to suspend business until the holidays, declared by Governor Gillett, had passed. He also declared that the institution was sound and would be able to meet all its obligations if given a little time.

The liabilities of the bank, according to President Ragland are $109,000 and he placed its resources at $140,-000.

Bankers throughout the city today reported a decided improvement in the financial situation. Growing confidence was apparent and the banking business was more brisk. The subtreasury today paid out $800,000 to local banks. The local subtreasury was authorized to cash checks and drafts drawn upon other subtreasuries until further orders, provided that it is shown that the banks collecting the checks or drafts are responsible.

The clearing house association held a meeting this afternoon and decided to at once issue $500,000 in clearing house certificates of the denomination of one dollar. This, it is believed, will be a great aid in the small retail business while the present currency stringency lasts.

RECEIVER IN CHARGE

TITLE, GUARANTEE AND TRUST COMPANY FAILS.

Portland Institution Goes to the Wall Shareholders Complain to the Court.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 6.—The Title, Guarantee and Trust company of this city this afternoon passed into the hands of a receiver. Judge Charles E. Wolverton, in the United States circuit court, for the district of Oregon, appointed George H. Hill, vice president of the institution, as its receiver and fixed his bond at $100,000. The receiver was appointed on the complaint of N. C. Coy, who gives his place of residence as Massachusetts, and claims to own 592 shares of the capital stock of the corporation. In his complaint, Coy estimates the liabilities of the concern at $2,640,00, and the assets at $2,580,000, and states that should the day-to-day holidays proclaimed by Governor Chamberlain be discontinued, the bank would be unable to withstand a great and sudden demand for ready cash, owing to its inability quickly to raise funds on its securities.

It developed late this afternoon that State Treasurer George A. Steel has on deposit in the Title Guarantee something over $300,000 of the state's money. This money is said to be well protected by surety bonds and collateral.

The Title, Guarantee and Trust company, engaged heavily in real estate and was the depository for immense sums of trusts and savings deposits. Its officers are: J. Thorburn Ross, president; George H. Hill, vice president; T. T. Burkhart, treasurer; John E. Aitchison, secretary.

The bank is capitalized at $750,000, in 2,500 shares. The failure of the Title, Guarantee and Trust company did not come as a great surprise to those on the inside of financial affairs. It apparently has been known for some time that it was in trouble, owing to the quality and quantity of its securities, which are of such character as to make them hard to realize upon in such times as the present.

The Portland Clearing House association was appealed to several days ago to extend aid to the Title, Guarantee and Trust company, but the association declined to come to its assistance.

While the failure of the bank may have a somewhat depressing effect, it is not thought that any serious harm will result, as the principal financial institutions of the city are operating

TELLS NATIVES HOW TO ACT

TAFT GIVES AN ADDRESS BEFORE FILIPINOS.

ISLANDS' POLITICS DISCUSSED

STICKS TO ORIGINAL PLANS

Secretary, Receiving No Replies to Inquiries Concerning Vladivostok Situation, Will Follow Route on Return Trip Previously Arranged.

MANILA, Nov. 6.—Secretary Taft, in an address at a banquet given by the Progress party last night, recounted party history in the Philippines and offered advice as to conduct on the part of both winning and losing parties in future elections.

"The only method of conducting popular government," he said, "is by political parties. The Federal party, at the time of its organization, was in no sense political. When it existed, it was the only party organized to convince the people to accept the promises of the Americans. It worked bravely and faithfully to this end, and to such an extent that much of the success of the early government of the islands was due to the Federalists. They sought peace and taught the people to seek peace.

Division Only Natural.

"After the firm establishment of the government had been accomplished, a change was natural. In election for members of the assembly it was natural for the people to divide. Knowing and believing that both the Nationalist and Progress party have the interests of the government at heart, the question of which shall control is settled only by an election, sometimes casting party information one way and sometimes another.

"The first principles of party politics necessary to learn is that defeat must not cause discouragement. The first lesson in self-government that voters have to learn is to be good losers, and when that is learned, to be good winners, because self-government imposes restraint on both sides. The minority must not strive to strike down the work of their opponents, because they are not in control, and the majority must so conduct affairs as to show that the people have part in the government. Nothing has given greater pleasure or more confidence in the success of what we are doing than the action of the assembly. All matters up to date have been treated in a conservative manner by both the minority and the majority. All I ask is that the minority, while pointing out the faults of the majority, may always conduct itself with pride, so as to show the assembly is a success."

Mistakes of Cubans.

The secretary referred to mistakes of the Cuban government, due to lack of interest in public affairs on the part of the legislators of that island, and declared that the Philippine assembly showed a difference in this respect.

Secretary Taft told the Associated Press tonight that he expected to return home over the Siberian railway. He thought at first that the troubles at Vladivostok would keep his party away from there. He has received no replies to dispatches of inquiry he has sent, but he regards it as extremely probable that he will stick to his original plans.

A meeting in Manila last night of Nationalist Radicals, no members of the assembly being present, adopted a motion censuring the majority of that body for inaction in regard to propositions in favor of independence.

NEW REQUEST FOR PROXIES.

Fish Will Bend Every Energy to Defeat Harriman.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—When asked tonight whether he would send to the stockholders of the Illinois Central Railroad company a new request for proxies for the meeting to be held at Chicago December 18, Stuyvesant Fish, who is contesting the election of a new directorate with E. H. Harriman and the latter's associates, said:

"I certainly shall. I understand that Mr. Hackstaff has just sent out a request for proxies running to President Harriman and himself, and has done it officially as secretary of the company, although the board of directors has in no way, directly or indirectly, authorized it. The result of Mr. Hackstaff's action has been to put many of the stockholders upon inquiry and they have asked me what I am going to do. I have told all of them that they should not comply with Mr. Hackstaff's request, which is clearly another move for Union Pacific dominance, and I am asking the stockholders to await proxies which I shall send out forthwith."

BANK CASHIER TRIES SUICIDE

Anxiety Over Financial Matters Leads to Desperate Deed.

KINGFISHER, O. T., Nov. 6.—Guy Condit, cashier of the First National bank, attempted to kill himself this morning by slashing his throat. He will recover. Anxiety over the financial situation preyed on his mind until he became despondent.

TO PROTECT MORRELL

TIGERS ARE DRILLED ON KICKING FORMATIONS.

Last Night's Scrimmage Winds Up Hard Work—Lineup of Both Teams Is Uncertain.

The Tigers were drilled for a long time last night on formations protecting Morrell in his place kicking and Morgan in punting. It is in their kicking department that a great deal of the strength of the Orange and Black team lies, and one of the most essential things to a Colorado College victory is that the Boulder forwards do not succeed in breaking through and blocking any of Morrell's attempts at scoring four points from a field goal.

According to Boulder reports, Coach Castleman is working hard on his men in a determined effort to get a combination that will spoil the place kicks and punts of the two Tiger stars. To offset this, the Tigers have been given hard drill in defensive work on such formations.

No Further Scrimmage.

Besides this part of the work, the signal work and scrimmage last night was of the usual order, the offense and defense of the regulars being tried out in turn. The varsity scrimmaged against the scrubs, and the practice on the whole was satisfactory, although the team did not show the perfect polish that the coaches expect to get by Saturday.

With last night's scrimmage, the grueling work in preparation for Boulder was finished. Tonight and tomorrow will be devoted to signal work, kicking and catching punts and similar features of the regular daily routine. The team is fast getting into shape for the big game, and as far as its physical condition is concerned, it will be in fettle. All of the first team cripples will play.

Over Sixty Plays.

Over 60 plays are contained in the Tiger repertoire and these will all be on tap for the Boulder game. This, in fact, means only 30 combinations, as every play is a duplicate, the same play being used on both the right and left.

The Tiger lineup for the game Saturday has not yet been definitely decided upon, although it is not expected to differ materially from that which played the Denver game. There are still a few places that are undecided, and the positions will not be finally settled until the day of the game.

Boulder's Lineup.

Manager McCreery yesterday received a list of eligibles and provisional lineup from Boulder. In this list, Ortner's name is given, thus dispelling all doubt as to whether or not he would be eligible. The three doubtful places are at center, fullback and right half, where Farnsworth, Weiner and Reid, respectively, are still on the casualty list. The lineup is: Morrison, right end; Kimmell, right tackle; Barr, right guard; Farnsworth, Ortner, center; O'Brien, left guard; Coffin, left tackle; Morrill, left end; Stirrett, quarterback; Reid, Thomas, right half; Roberts, left half; Weiner, Stocker, fullback.

The work on the new bleachers on the east side of the field continued rapidly yesterday, and it is expected that the stands will be completed by tonight or tomorrow. The west stands are to be moved 80 feet to the north, thus placing them opposite the center of the field.

KOEHLER PLANNING SURPRISE

Denver Coach Makes Shifts in Denver Team—Miners Have Large Hospital Squad.

Special to The Gazette.

DENVER, Nov. 6.—Coach Koehler, who demonstrated what he can do with the new game against the Tigers 10 days ago, is planning a surprise for the Miners when his Denver eleven meets Ellsworth's pupils on Hoyt field Saturday. He has not only been drilling the Methodists in some new tricky plays, but he has made several shifts in the team.

Renick and Brusse have changed positions, the former going to fullback and the latter to end, the position in which he made the all-Colorado last year. The change seems to have been a good one. Bert Martin, of the 1905 team, will play at guard and his 225 pounds will considerably strengthen the line. Hardine, who has been ill for three weeks, has been out for practice this week. In the backfield the style of game has been changed.

Reports from Golden tell chiefly of the exploits of the Miners' hospital squad. Captain Hoyt probably is out of the game for the season, while Blatherwick injured his shoulder in last night's scrimmage. Kelso, Hynes and Williams are doubtful starters in Saturday's game. The Golden men, however, are not discouraged, and figure out that they will beat Denver by a safe margin, although they realize a hard game is coming.

Arrangements have been made whereby the Thanksgiving conflict of dates is avoided, the Denver-Aggies game being set for the morning, and the Mines-Boulder contest for the afternoon.

CAPT. FARNSWORTH WILL PLAY

Boulder's Star Center Is Expected to Be in Good Shape Saturday.

Special to The Gazette.

BOULDER, Nov. 6.—Captain Farnsworth will probably play the entire game against the Tigers next Saturday. The Boulder captain has been out on the field every night since the Nebraska game, following the play and keeping in touch with the situation. He has not been used in scrimmage and will not before the start of the game, but he is expected to be in shape. Weiner, however, is still on the doubtful list.

Tonight the varsity went through its last hard scrimmage, and the remainder of the week will be devoted to signal work, to kicking and punting and the everlasting hammering on the catching of punts. The Boulderites figure that they have a better line than Colorado College, and an equal backfield. The only place they are willing to concede anything to the Tigers is in their kicking department, and there they recognize the ability of Morrell, and give Morgan the edge over Stirrett in punting.

Three hundred enthusiastic rooters will ride in a special train to Colorado Springs Saturday morning. They expect to return to celebrate a victory in Boulder.

MAY ABOLISH GOAL KICKING

Football Rules Committee May Do Away With Extra Point After Touchdown.

The abolition of the extra point allowed for kicking a goal from placement after a touchdown, is one of the reforms which the football rules committee will consider when it meets this winter to discuss possible changes in the code. This idea has met with favor with at least one of the more influential of the members of the committee.

The last change in football scoring methods was made in 1903, when the value of a goal from the field was reduced from five to four points. In favor of making this new change, it is urged that the difficulty of knicking this goal is not by any means one-fifth as great as that of scoring a touchdown, and that there is no reason for continuing to award a point for such goals. It is felt by some that the practice is responsible for a good deal of unnecessary delay, but in compensation, it might be noted that players often get a momentary rest to prepare them for a harder fight.

The practice is a picturesque survival of the old-time game, which has undergone so many changes of late, and while it is true that a gust of wind may often have more to do with the result than the player's toe, yet the same objection could be urged against a goal from field or a misplaced punt. There is a bit of generalship in the kicking of this goal, and it is one of the factors that tends to keep the play in the center of the field rather than along the sidelines.

Occasionally a critical game is decided by the scoring or failure in scoring a single point, and while there is a good deal of reasonable argument permissible as to whether a game should hinge on such a point, a decisive score is always more satisfactory than a tie.

DIRECTORS INDORSE PURCHASE

Transfer of Tennessee Company Has Sanction of U. S. Steel Company Heads.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The board of directors of the United States Steel Corporation today approved of the purchase of the stock of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company. Announcement to that effect was made by E. H. Gary, chairman, after the meeting of the board. Mr. Gary said action was unanimous. There was a large attendance of directors. Among others present was H. H. Rogers, who made his first appearance in the financial district for over two months today.

John W. Gates, who returned from Europe yesterday, was one of the holders of the Tennessee Coal and Iron stock, who consented to the transfer of the holdings to the United States Steel Corporation. Mr. Gates said today:

"From what I can see, conditions are now sound, with every indication that the financial situation will continue to improve. The dangerous spots have been eliminated, and a gradual readjustment is now under way. As to the purchase of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company by the United States Steel Corporation, the steel people got the best property in the country, and at a bargain price.

"I regard it as a sacrifice of stock worth a great deal more than the purchase price. I did not intend to sell my stock, but I had to follow the combine."

TAKING OF TESTIMONY BEGINS

Letters Written by Fred Tyler, the Murdered Man, and His Mother, Admitted at Adams Trial.

RATHDRUM, Idaho, Nov. 6.—The taking of testimony in the trial of Steve Adams for murder of Fred Tyler about August 10, 1904, began today.

Mrs. Anna Thomas of Santa, Idaho, mother of the murdered man, today gave a description of Tyler, the clothing last worn by him and when he disappeared. Letters written by both Fred Tyler and Mrs. Thomas were admitted in evidence, showing the man and his mother were in correspondence to July 15, 1904. Another letter, written later by Mrs. Thomas was also introduced. She said she did not send the letter for the reason that Fred had disappeared and she did not know where to send it. Mrs. Thomas was permitted to read her testimony taken at the previous trial, and was asked as to certain points in it.

ATHLETICS OR MONEY

SWARTHMORE COLLEGE MUST SETTLE THIS QUESTION.

Woman Leaves Large Bequest Upon Condition That Intercollegiate Sports Be Abandoned.

Swarthmore college just now has an unusually hard problem to solve. The will of a wealthy Philadelphia woman who died recently, bequeathed to Swarthmore a big sum of money, represented by coal lands, on condition that Swarthmore abandon all intercollegiate athletics. On no other ground is the bequest available. Swarthmore has won much fame in intercollegiate athletics. Two years ago the little Quakers jumped into the limelight by defeating Cornell in football, and last year they administered the same dose to Pennsylvania. They have won the intercollegiate championship in lacrosse innumerable times, and have invariably made a splendid showing in other branches of sport.

The college officials have appointed a committee to investigate and report whether or not in its judgment the bequest is worth the sacrifice the college is asked to make. For years it has been said that the biggest advertisement a college can have is a winning football team. Now Swarthmore will have an opportunity to place a monetary worth on its athletics. If the trustees decide that the bequest is worth more than the athletics, intercollegiate sport must go. One of the conditions is that the decision must be final. If Swarthmore accepts the legacy her athletics must be confined strictly within the college. There must be no outside competition. The majority of the students are strong for the retention of athletics, and would not give up intercollegiate competition for any amount of money. "We would sooner trounce Pennsylvania any year than take a million dollars for dropping out of athletics," is the way the typical Swarthmore rooter views the situation.

EMPEROR WILLIAM TAKES REST

Will Remain at Isle of Wight Two Weeks to Enjoy Respite From Official Duties.

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—Emperor William's intention to stay a fortnight on the Isle of Wight, after his visit to the British court, "upon the advice of his physicians, and in order to complete his recovery from an attack of catarrh," as the authorized announcement reads, is a mystification, because the emperor, with the exception of a slight cold remaining after his recent attack of influenza, appears to be in perfect health and good voice, with no stoppage in the head such as might result from catarrhal troubles. It appears to be probable that the emperor, in deciding to stay at the Isle of Wight, really wished to be away from the cares of state for a couple of weeks, as he has been working very hard recently.

Empress Augusta Victoria, according to semi-official information obtained here, changed her mind on the pressing request of King Edward and Queen Alexandra, and decided at a late hour tonight to accompany Emperor William on his approaching visit to England. It was announced yesterday that the empress was not going to England with her husband, because her little daughter, Princess Victoria Louise, is suffering from chickenpox, her majesty considering it advisable to remain and take care of the child.

Charcoal Stops Gas On Your Stomach

Wonderful Absorbing Power of Charcoal When Taken in the Form of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges.

Trial Package Sent Free.

Charcoal, pure, simple charcoal, absorbs 100 times its own volume of gas. Where does the gas go to? It is just absorbed by the charcoal—the gas disappears and there is left a pure, fresh, sweet atmosphere, free from all impurities and germs.

That's what happens in your stomach when you take one or two of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, the most powerful purifiers science has yet discovered.

You belch gas in company, sometimes, by accident, greatly to your own humiliation. That is because there is a great amount of gas being formed in your stomach by fermenting food. Your stomach is not digesting your food properly. Gas is inevitable. Whenever this happens, just take one or two of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges right after eating, and you will be surprised how quickly they will act. No more belchings; no more sour risings. Eat all you want and what you want, and then, if there is any gas going to be formed, one of these wonderful little absorbers, a Stuart Charcoal Lozenge, will take care of all the gas.

And it will do more than that. Every particle of impurity in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away by the charcoal. No one seems to know why it does this, but it does, and does it wonderfully. You notice the difference in your appetite, general good feeling, and in the purity of your blood, right away.

You'll have no more bad taste in your mouth or bad breath, either from drinking, eating or smoking. Other people will notice your bad breath quicker than you will yourself. Make your breath pure, fresh and sweet, so when you talk to others you won't disgust them. Just one or two Stuart Charcoal Lozenges will make your breath sweet, and make you feel better all over for it. You can eat all the onions you want, and no one can tell the difference.

Besides, charcoal is the best laxative known. You can take a whole boxful and no harm will result. It is a wonderfully easy regulator.

And then, too, it filters your blood—every particle of poison or impurity in your blood is destroyed, and you begin to notice the difference in your face first thing—your clear complexion.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are made from pure willow charcoal, and just a little honey is put in to make them palatable, but not too sweet.

They will work wonders in your stomach, and make you feel fine and fresh. Your blood and breath will be purified.

We want to prove all this to you, so just send for a free sample today. Then after you get it and use it, you will like them so well that you will go to your druggist and get a 25-cent box of these Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package, free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 200 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

ITINERARY OF EVANS' FLEET

Big Battleship Fleet Will Leave Hampton Roads Dec. 14; Arrive Magdalena Bay March 14.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The itinerary of Admiral Evans' battleship fleet on its voyage to San Francisco was made public at the navy department today. As heretofore announced, the fleet will assemble at Hampton Roads on December 9 and depart from there December 16, touching on the way to San Francisco at Trinidad, Rio Janeiro, Punta Arenas, Callao and Magdalena bay. It is scheduled to arrive at Trinidad December 24, Rio de Janeiro January 11, at Punta Arenas January 31, at Callao February 18 and at Magdalena bay March 14. At each of these places it will remain from five to 11 days, except at Magdalena bay, from which place the date of departure depends upon the completion of target practice there. For the same reason the date of arrival at San Francisco has not been determined.

The torpedo boat destroyer flotilla will leave Hampton Roads December 2, and because of their greater speed, more limited draught and smaller tonnage, these boats will stop at many more places than the battleships.

The stop of the torpedo boat destroyers at each port will be about four or five days. The itinerary contemplates their arrival at the various places as follows: San Juan, December 7; Trinidad, December 15; Para, December 26; Pernambuco, January 5; Rio de Janeiro, January 15; Montevideo, January 25; Punta Arenas, February 8; Talcahuana, February 20; Callao, March 4; Panama, March 16; Acapulco, March 28, and Magdalena Bay, April 6. As in the case of the battleship fleet, the dates of departure from Magdalena Bay and arrival at San Francisco are dependent upon the completion of target practice in the bay. The flotilla will be commanded by Lieutenant Commander Cone.

Good Government League Wins.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—At 8:30 o'clock tonight, the count of yesterday's municipal vote had been completed in 241 precincts out of 273 in the city. The total vote thus far counted is 49,369, giving the following on mayor: E. R. Taylor, Democrat and Good Government league, 24,522; P. H. McCarthy, Union Labor, 15,298; D. A. Ryan, Republican, 7,925. Taylor's plurality, 9,224; majority, 1,259.

District Attorney—W. H. Langdon, Republican, Democrat and Good Government, 28,412; Frank McGowan, Union Labor, 17,158. Langdon's majority, 11,224.

The total vote, it is estimated, will reach 56,000 or 57,000. If the present ratio is maintained, it is predicted that Taylor will have a majority of 2,200 and Langdon a majority of 14,000.

It is apparent tonight that the entire Good Government league ticket is elected, with the exception of county clerk and treasurer, and possibly one of 18 supervisors.

Democrats Win in Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 6.—Complete returns from this city show that it was carried by Austin L. Crothers, Democratic candidate for governor, by a plurality of 4,341, and that he ran approximately 500 behind his ticket. For the legislature, the Democrats swept the First, Second and Third legislative districts, which are normally Democratic, and elected one of the six members of the house of delegates in the Fourth district, normally Republican, thus increasing the city's Democratic delegation in the legislature by one. The great difficulty in handling the blanket ballot used in the election is shown by the fact that the returns from the last city precinct were not received at the court house until 5 o'clock this afternoon, just 24 hours after the closing of the polls yesterday. In that precinct, 700 ballots were cast.

Returns from the counties continued to straggle in, but at least a third of them were still missing at 11 o'clock tonight. From those at hand, however, it was ascertained that the Democrats will easily control the legislature.

Nebraska Goes Republican.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 6.—Second day election returns served to confirm estimates of last night and to emphasize the victory of the Republican state ticket, showing the election of Judge Reese by a plurality of not less than 16,000, and possibly 20,000. The vote for Clark for railroad commissioner will exceed this, and that for the two regents of the university will not be far behind. The Republicans gain one district court judge, and possibly two.

William J. Bryan today sent a telegram of congratulation to Mayor Tom L. Johnson. Commenting on the result at Cleveland, Mr. Bryan said:

"Mr. Johnson has fought a great fight for the public interest against great odds. Not only were the corporations opposed to him, but all the influence of the national administration was brought to bear against him. His victory is not only a personal triumph, but a triumph for the unorganized masses against the franchise holding corporations."

FAILURE DUE TO STRINGENCY

Receiver Is Appointed by Court for the Arnold Print Works of Boston.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Nov. 6.—Henry E. Warner of Boston was appointed receiver of the Arnold Print works of this city, one of the largest textile concerns in the country, by the United States circuit court at Boston today. The corporation has a large printing factory, with offices in New York and Boston, and owns the Beaver and Eclipse cotton mills of North Adams, the Williamstown Manufacturing company's mills of Williamstown, and the North Pownall company's mills of North Pownall, Vt.

The corporation has liabilities of $9,700,000 and assets estimated at $15,000,000. Of the liabilities, $6,500,000 is represented by promissory notes and obligations to banks. The corporation is declared to be solvent, but, owing to the stringency of the money market, was obliged to have a receiver appointed in order to conserve its interests. The mills and print works have been doing an immense business and, according to the receiver, will continue in operation. The print works and allied mills employ 6,080 hands.

UTES QUITE RESTLESS

HAVE BEEN JOINED BY A NUMBER OF SIOUX.

Matter May Become Serious at Any Moment—Soldiers on Way to Scene of Trouble.

HURON, S. D., Nov. 6.—James Macomber reached here today from the scene of the Indian troubles. He says the Utes are very restless and some open threats are made. A few dissatisfied Sioux have joined the Utes, and, while there is no occasion for immediate alarm, it is a fact that the matter may become serious at any moment.

OMAHA, Nov. 6.—Colonel Frank West and eight troops of the Second United States cavalry from Fort Des Moines were today ferried across the Missouri river at Forest City, opposite the Cheyenne agency, in South Dakota, after reaching Gettysburg last night and marching 18 miles across the country. The command will continue the march tomorrow for Thunder Buttes, 50 miles further west. It now appears to the army men that the campaign against the Utes may keep the soldiers busy all winter.

The two companies of the Sixteenth infantry from Fort Crook will reach Gettysburg tonight. These companies will relieve the small detachment of the Second cavalry having charge of the base of supplies at Gettysburg. Detachments of the infantry companies will then be assigned to duty from Cheyenne River agency, White Horse and other points between Thunder Buttes creek and the Missouri river.

PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE

Aged President of National Bank Sentenced to Five Years

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 6.—Dr. F. J. Tygard, president of the Bates National bank of Butler, Mo., when it failed, September 20, 1906, was sentenced today to five years in the penitentiary by Judge McPherson in the federal court. The conviction was on the charge of misapplying the funds of the bank.

Mr. Tygard is past 70 years of age, and is practically paralyzed. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was given the minimum sentence.

Judge McPherson intimated that if application was made for pardon it might be favorably considered on account of the prisoner's age and physical condition.

SHE WILL DIE A WIDOW.

Advertised for a Husband and Her Son Answered.

From the New York World.

All the fashionables in Burlington, N. J., an old and aristocratic town, are laughing at the recontre which a matronly widow, who lives on Federal street there, forced upon herself.

The widow, although well known, is best described by this "personal," which she placed in a Philadelphia newspaper:

"A lady of mature age, but looking young and feeling so, a tall blonde, imposing and graceful, and at the same time well-to-do, desires to marry. Address ..."

The lady, who, no older than she feels, chose her affinity from the writers of many letters she received. Quickly an interview was arranged—she, wearing a bunch of lilies-of-the-valley in her corsage, was to wait at the Pennsylvania railroad station; he, with a red, red rose in his coat lapel, was to arrive on the 8:37 a. m. New York express, eastbound, yesterday.

The widow, looking extremely youthful and handsome, waited at the station; the express stopped; from a car dropped her stalwart son.

"Hello, mother," he cried, "what are you doing here?"

Next instant he saw the bunch of lilies-of-the-valley; she, the rose he wore. She blushed far redder than the rose and was seized with an opportune fit of coughing, which could not hide her confusion, however.

"I—I got—off to—to get a paper," stammered her son, who is about 23 years old, a gay young fellow, employed in Philadelphia.

He rushed to the news-stand, grabbed a paper, and scrambled aboard the last coach as the express pulled out. His mother tore the lilies from her corsage, threw them on the platform and ground them under her heel.

"I will die a widow," she has since said to intimate, "confidential" female friends.

RESULTS OF THE ELECTION.

SAN FRANCISCO has given the country a most pleasant surprise. It has back-slidden so often in the past, it has done so much floundering in its efforts to get and keep clean government, that the result of Tuesday's election was hardly to be expected. But this is one time that San Francisco didn't give its usual performance of taking one step forward and slipping back two. It elected its reform Mayor for a full term, and with him a complete reform ticket. Schmitz and his fellow grafters have again been rebuked, scarcely less effectively than when a jury sentenced their leader to the penitentiary.

Just prior to the election the outlook for the reform cause was not promising. Mayor Taylor had been nominated by the Democrats, who asked the Republican organization to lay aside partisanship for once and unite the good government forces in the face of the common enemy. The Republican organization refused and named a candidate of its own, and when this worthy was asked by thousands of indignant Republican voters to decline the nomination he refused, saying that he could not do such a thing without "being a traitor to the glorious party of Lincoln, McKinley and Roosevelt." Of course his candidacy could only have the effect of dividing the good government vote and thus aiding Schmitz's union labor candidate, but it appears that Republican voters generally carried out their threat by refusing to support him, voting for Taylor instead. By this independent course they have insured a continuance of the exposure and prosecution of the grafters and have perpetuated clean government for another two years.

VICTORY FOR TOM JOHNSON. The result in Cleveland is less of a surprise. Mayor Johnson has succeeded during his three terms in office in building up a machine strong enough to continue him through still another term—a feat all the more remarkable when it is remembered that Johnson is a Bryanite Democrat and Cleveland is normally strongly Republican. The Republicans apparently decided some time ago to make a more determined effort than ever before to oust him, and to this end they nominated their strongest man. It is certain that if Burton couldn't beat Johnson nobody can, for he is a man of rare ability and of great popularity. Johnson carries into office with him twenty-five of the thirty-two members of the City Council.

The defeat of the "unholy alliance" in New York—the fusion between Republicans and Hearst's Independence Leaguers—was to be expected. The combination never excited much enthusiasm among Republicans, most of whom regarded it as a bigger concession to Hearst than they could afford to make, and it was rather coolly supported by the Republican press. The only excuse made for it by its supporters was that the end justified the means—the end being to defeat Tammany—but now that it had brought about their own defeat it will be regarded only as a bad blunder.

OFFICIAL DERELICTION.

THAT was a pretty warm letter in which "Law and Order" paid his respects to the Honorable Mayor and the Honorable Chief of Police in the Open Parliament yesterday. And he is right about it. Primarily, youthful hoodlumism is the result of parental neglect, but after the neglect has become an accomplished fact and the hoodlum is turned loose on the community it is the duty of the police authorities to protect it from his depredations. "Law and Order" well says that "the Mayor knew, the Chief of Police and every man on the force knew, that hoodlumism was going to run rampant that night, (meaning Halloween) and that property would probably be damaged or destroyed." At any rate everybody else in town knew it, because it is the established custom.

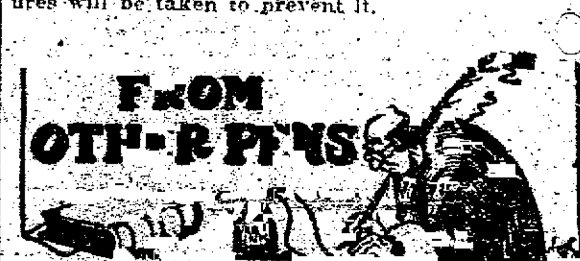

It is true that Chief Reynolds took extra precautions. All of the regular patrolmen, of both day and night shifts, were kept on duty, but judging by the street scenes the next morning they must have been suddenly stricken deaf and blind. We realize perfectly that it is a very difficult matter to patrol the extensive area of Colorado Springs thoroughly with the limited number of men at the disposal of the Chief, but this is only a partial excuse. The youthful plunderers ranged at will, tearing down fences, destroying ditch-boxes, overturning vehicles, and committing other wanton acts as freely as if there hadn't been a policeman in Colorado Springs. An observer who walked up Cascade Avenue at about two o'clock Friday morning when the revelry was nearly at an end noticed a vehicle lying across the ditch with its wheels in the air, in front of the Rock Island office, almost at the corner of Pike's Peak and Cascade Avenues. This is almost in the center of the business section where policemen are supposed to pass frequently, and how under the shining moon anybody managed to run the vehicle up almost on the sidewalk and turn it upside down without being seen is a mystery, but it was done just the same. From that corner north for nearly two miles there was a continuous string of displaced and broken ditch boxes, overturned stiles, and gates torn from their hinges and thrown into the street. It was the same way on other streets, and one of these obstructions caused a serious accident by throwing a rider from his bicycle. We do not say that all of these depredations could have been prevented by any means within the power of the city authorities, but they certainly would have been fewer if a number of extra patrolmen had been hired for the occasion.

SALE AND USE OF EXPLOSIVES ON THE FOURTH. The writer of the letter above referred to also speaks of the similar dereliction displayed by the authorities incident to the last Fourth of July celebration, and refers particularly to the lack of precautions taken to prevent the use of dangerous explosives. About three years ago the Legislature passed a law making it "unlawful for any person, persons, firm, association, company or corporation to buy, sell, trade in, give away, keep in stock or have in possession any toy pistols or explosive canes or other like contrivances to be carried or held in the hand for explosion, ignition or detonation by percussion, or concussion of so-called caps and cartridges or other like contrivances containing fulminate, dynamite, nitro-glycerine or other similar explosive, or any toy cannon for explosion of gunpowder or other explosive material, or any caps, cartridges or other such contrivances not in the nature of ammunition and to be exploded for sport or amusement by percussion or concussion, containing fulminate, dynamite, nitro-glycerine or other similar explosive."

Section 2 of the same law declares that "it shall be the duty of the police authorities of any municipal corporation to regulate the time, place and other conditions under which fireworks may be set off or ignited." The penalty for violation of any of the provisions of this act is fixed at imprisonment for not less than ten days nor more than ninety days, or a fine of from $10 to $200, or both.

If any law can be expected to put an end to the peculiar variety of hoodlumism incident to Fourth of July celebrations, this ought to do it, but though the police had the power to prevent the sale as well as the use of high-power explosives, it is a matter of local history that these dangerous explosives were sold and used in large quantities.

Much of this is ancient history, but it is worth keeping in mind. The Police Department is supported by public taxation and in return for its money the public has a right to expect protection at all times, Fourth of July and Halloween included. It does not expect every trifling misdemeanor to be prevented, but it does expect that when an outburst of hoodlumism is known by everybody to be planned for a certain occasion adequate measures will be taken to prevent it.

SPINES.

From the Cleveland Leader.

The spine, according to Dr. Alfred Wenzel, control three billion nerves. And yet we all know spines without any nerve in them at all.

THE SITUATION.

From the New York Times.

The process through which the financial institutions of New York are passing is a strenuous but healthy one. The long-continued decline in stock market values—that is to say, in the values of collateral securities for loans large in total amount and various in character and purpose—has necessarily brought out such weak spots as existed, with the inevitable result of excitement, exageration and apprehension.

A BENEFICENT STORM.

From the New York World.

Nothing could better illustrate the artificial aspects of the recent panic than the effect of yesterday's storm. All the spectacular features were washed out by the rain. The persons who stood in line waiting for the trust companies to open were mostly messengers and representatives of business men who were sent to withdraw money to meet pay rolls and other legitimate indebtedness. The crowds that played the leading role in last week's disturbances stayed at home to keep their feet dry. Now that there is a return to sense and sanity, it is plain that the mob-craving for theatrical effect played quite as important a part as fear in the run on various banks. The "smart Aleck" spirit had a great deal to do with the withdrawal of deposits. It was one of the common remarks heard in the street that "I went down there and made them give me my money."

BE "CHESTY."

From the Baltimore Sun.

Health Culture discusses the characteristics of the long-lived in an effort to get at the secret of life and supply a recipe for octogenarianism. It is optimistically assumed that this existence is by no means in "a vale of tears," but that it is a good thing to protract it as long as possible. Those who live long, it is observed, have the body "expanded." They are "chesty" and erect, giving heart, lungs, liver and stomach plenty of room to function in. The expanded man is contrasted with the "collapsed" man who depresses his chest, curves his spine and crowds all his vital organs together and downward, thus preventing them from doing their work properly. What the would-be Methusaleh needs to do is to hold up his head, swell his chest and practice deep breathing. He must also restrict himself to a frugal diet, taking plain food and in small quantities. It is recommended that he drink water only, though it is admitted that some octogenarians have used alcoholic drinks freely. If water is distasteful, "much juicy fruit" is a fair compromise. Not only must the coveter of gray hairs study to acquire a correct posture and carriage, but he must not be "fussy." "The octogenarian," says our genial contemporary, "is not calm because he is old; he is old because he is calm; always has been calm. The little, worrying, straining 'hustler,' rushing about after the tawdry prizes, place, pelf, power, studying only the fluctuations of supply and demand, forgetting that the glory of man is not in what he has or what he does, but in what he is—this little struggler should know that by every gasp and sigh, by every flushing and paling, by every moment of worry, he curtails his only, his priceless heritage, life itself. If he will but study the great and wise ones who live long in the land, he will note that one of their everpresent characteristics is calmness—and the deliberate, easy movements that are possible only to those who are habitually calm."

The "hustler" gets the dollar he chases, and with it the luxuries it brings, but too often in getting it he saps his vitality by haste and worry and cuts life short by greedy enjoyment. Overwork and excitement ultimately wreck the nervous system, and when that fails all the organs of life are misdirected and go wrong.

Such is the gospel of health and long life as preached by the experts. It is pleasant to learn that the means of wellbeing are within everyone's reach, involving nothing more than reasonable industry and self-control.

THE WEST—LEST THEY FORGET.

From the Chicago Record-Herald.

All the financial editorials, interviews and news articles of the New York newspapers have pointed to the soundness and strength of "the west" as the greatest of all the grounds for public confidence. "The west is prosperous," "the west is serene and quite busy," are among the phrases that, like a recurrent refrain, have been used hundreds of times in the eastern press during the last several days.

And there is no doubt whatever that the reference to the west has carried reassurance and cheer to men who might have become seriously alarmed by the flurries in Wall Street.

The west will note these appeals to its genuine, solid strength, to its real prosperity—a prosperity based on labor and its results, on honest and prudent banking and business methods, on production and commerce. It hopes that Wall Street and its organs in New York will remember these spontaneous and eager references to conditions in Chicago, in other grain centers and great markets, and take to heart the lessons of the contrast between the methods that save and the methods that endanger and destroy prosperity.

Stocks gambling, "chains of banks" started by and for manipulators and reckless borrowers, juggling with securities, illegal loans, loose and vicious financiering—these are the things that caused the Wall Street slumps and collapses. The relief and salvation, on the other hand, have come from men and principles that represent work, savings and honest investment, careful methods of using credit, intelligent and conservative application of capital to new enterprises.

When in the future the west rebukes stock gambling and reckless inflation, it will behoove the gentry in and around Wall Street to display humility and a willingness to learn and profit by sound advice. The gambling and frenzied financiers who have been in the habit of sneering at the ignorance and slowness of the west and its failure to appreciate the beauties of windy speculation, should sing small after their recent experiences.

DIET AND CANCER.

From the New York Times.

The statement in the report on cancer in Chicago, made by Dr. G. Cooke Adams of London, yesterday, that in 1905 one death in every 23 in that city was due to that malady, is startling. The ratio of increase of cancer in Chicago since 1866 has been 232 per cent. Dr. Adams has been studying the disease two years for the Chicago department of health, to which his report is made. The increase has been largely among the foreign-born population.

Dr. Adams attributes the growth of the disease directly to poor food. The Italians who stick to macaroni and the Chinese who eat rice wherever they dwell are comparatively free from the scourge. The immigrants whose staple food consists of canned and pickled meats and sausages are the greatest sufferers. Bad fresh meat, too, which they can buy cheaply, is held responsible. Dr. Adams says:

About 87 per cent of stock held for slaughter, upon being condemned on antemortem inspection, and after diseased organs and parts have been removed, is finally passed upon and enters the market, either as fresh meat or in the form of meat food products, and is largely consumed by the foreign poor. My investigations at the Chicago stock yards show that the majority of the stock condemned antemortem for tuberculosis, actinomycetosis, and cancer, as well as those principally used as "canners," are fed on wet malt or distillery slop.

Cancer in the orient and southern European cities has been attributed to the use of dried fish as food, but this theory has never been strongly supported. Dr. Adams' statements, too, do not account for the prevalence of cancer among people of wealth. But they arrest the attention, and the statistics he has prepared are alarming.

Today's Horoscope

Thursday, November 7, 1907.

From a far way speeds one who beareth news.
Stray not this day from paths of daily use.

The two-day-old moon has Mercury in benefic aspect with it on this, the 311th day of the year.

There is one traveling swiftly this day who will bring great news.

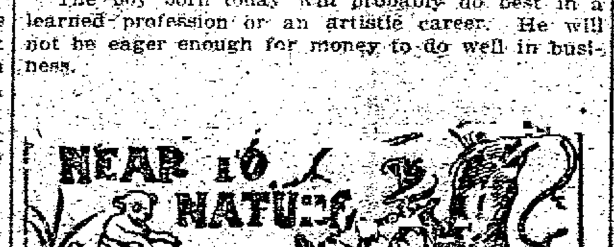

The word written or printed is lucky this day. Deal, then, with printers or publishers. Make announcements by circular or pamphlet.

For naught else the day is certain, except for hiring men either as clerks or laborers. Advertise for help this day with confidence.

Those whose birthdate this is will have an active year. Men will make a change in business and women will travel. They will meet with temptation to overdo social activity.

The girl born today will be very quick and clever and fond of art. She will be in danger of wedding in haste and finding herself tied to an uncongenial mate.

The boy born today will probably do best in a learned profession or an artistic career. He will not be eager enough for money to do well in business.

COME ROUND AGAIN, WILLIE.

They have organized a team, and relying on their brawn and nicknames, have issued a challenge to the world for pigskin contests.

GAME POSTPONED.

From the Mineral City (Ohio) Pointer.

Last Monday evening a crowd of 15-year-old baseball players were reorganizing their team under an awning in front of the Wiest building. One of the leaders was puffing a well-colored brierwood (or some other kind of wood), and another was smoking an equally strong-looking stogy. When the latter kid saw the "old man" coming along, the weed mysteriously disappeared until the danger had passed.

ANYTHING TO PLEASE THE LADY.

Whitwell Cor. Sequachee (Tenn.) News.

"Lonely One" of Kimberly says that they they wished some one would give me more news, as my pieces were too short. I was of the opinion that would be the most interesting part of my writing. I do the best I can to give the news of this place under the circumstances. If I knew who she was (for I suppose "Lonely One" is a young lady) I would make an extra effort to tell the news so she would be lonely no more.

Making the West Accessible

An Enormous Amount of Capital Is Invested in the Telephone and Telegraph Lines Which Have Played Such an Important Part in Hastening the Development of the West.

THROWING the locomotive out of consideration, no agent has taken a more prominent place in the material development of the Rocky Mountain region than the telephone and the telegraph. Improvements in overland transportation furnished by steam roads and in rapid communication made possible by the use of the wire for delivery of messages, have gone hand in hand in making the great West thoroughly accessible and in hastening development.

A person seldom realizes the important part which the telephone and telegraph play in his daily life, and few know the enormous amount of capital invested and material that is required to construct and maintain the extensive lines. Thirty million poles are used in the United States on 800,000 miles of telephone and telegraph lines. This does not include the large number of poles which are required by the electric lighting and transportation companies. Most of the poles in use are cedar, but throughout this Rocky Mountain region this is not available, and Douglas fir is substituted. Douglas fir, while not so durable as cedar is so much more lasting than the other available timbers that its use has been widely extended.

Transportation of Timber.

As the telephone and telegraph lines increased to meet the demands of business brought about by the growth of railroads and towns, it became necessary to cut large areas of timber lands to supply the poles holding the wires. For a long time timber was so plentiful that suitable poles could be easily obtained without going far from the lines under construction. Now, however, the considerable distance that the poles must be transported in many cases, and the general scarcity of timber, has tended to raise the cost. Consequently, pole users have been compelled to find some cheaper, more abundant timber to replace the expensive Douglas fir or discover some inexpensive way of making it last longer by fighting off decay.

The decay of wood is caused by the action of low forms of plant life called fungi or bacteria. These live upon the wood and in time completely destroy it. In order to grow, they require a sufficient amount of heat, air, moisture, and food. All of these requirements are met in most parts of the United States. When the pole is set, however, air and moisture generally exist in requisite amounts only in that portion of the pole near the surface of the ground. The portion of the pole buried several feet underground does not furnish them with the necessary air, while that part above the ground, in most cases, contains insufficient moisture for their development. If the part near the ground line can be protected from attack, the life of the pole can be materially increased.

Preserving the Poles.

Many methods have been tried at various times to protect this vital part of the pole. Most of these consisted in applying oils or paint, or similar substances, with a brush to the butt. With a few exceptions, they have been largely abandoned as not giving the desired protection. The substance applied remained almost entirely upon the surface of the wood, and, as a result, seasoning checks and wind shakes ruptured the coating and exposed the untreated wood to attack by fungi, which soon destroyed the pole.

The forest service of the United States Department of Agriculture has spent considerable time in developing a method by which the butts of poles can be successfully and economically preserved against decay, with a consequent increase in the life of the whole pole. This consists in immersing them in alternate baths of hot and cold preservative, such as creosote and zinc chloride. The poles are placed in a tank of hot preservative to a depth of one foot above the ground line when set, and kept there for a few hours, depending upon the species and condition of the timber. The pole is then placed in a bath of cold preservative for a short time, which completes the treatment.

Method of Preservation.

When the wood is heated, in the first bath, the air and moisture in the wood cells and intercellular spaces is expanded, and some of it is driven out. Upon immersion in the cold preservative, the difference in temperature causes the expanded air and moisture to contract, thus forming a partial vacuum, which causes the oil to penetrate the wood to the desired depth. The wood to be treated should be air seasoned.

Douglas fir is a dense timber, and the heartwood is very difficult to penetrate successfully with preservative, but usually a pole has a zone of sapwood which is thick enough and can be impregnated with enough preservative to greatly increase the natural life of the pole.

However, in the Rocky Mountain region it is not necessary to confine attention to Douglas fir. Large supplies of lodgepole pine are available. This is called an "inferior" timber, because it is not as durable when placed in the ground as the more resinous fir. Lodgepole pine is cheaper than Douglas fir, is lighter, and therefore easier to transport, and embodies all of the requisites of an ideal pole timber, with the one exception of susceptibility to rapid decay. This, however, can be easily overcome by a proper preservative treatment. The porous nature of the wood makes it easy to treat. By the injection of a proper amount of preservative, a lodgepole pine can be made to last twenty years or more, at a small cost.

Lodgepole Pine.

There are large areas of lodgepole pine in which the trees have been fire or insect killed. A great deal of timber has been standing in this condition for a long time. It is for the most part sound and exceptionally well seasoned, and consequently in excellent condition for preservative treatment. It can be secured at a lower price than green timber of the same species, and for pole purposes is just as good if not better. When properly treated with wood preservative it can be employed for poles in lessening the drain upon the more expensive species, such as Douglas fir.

The government considers the investigation in the preservative treatment of timber of such importance that the business of one branch of a bureau in the Department of Agriculture—the "Office of Wood Preservation" in the forest service is given over entirely to the work of experiments in cooperation with railroad companies, mining corporations and individuals in prolonging the life of railroad ties, mine props, bridge timbers, fence posts and transmission poles. Advice and practical assistance is furnished all who request this advice of the forester. The lengthening of life of timber means the saving of thousands of dollars annually through doing away with the material for renewals.

THE LAMP OF THE FUTURE.

It Will Give Light Without Heat. The Fuel Probably Gas or Vapor.

From Cassier's Magazine.

Many attempts have been made to increase the efficiency of our present electric incandescent lamps. Light is only a byproduct in all known illuminants, for the production of light depends on incandescence—that is, the shining of hot bodies, because they are hot.

Such a hot body radiates a variety of waves, but very few of these are useful as light. The useful light rays only appear when the temperature is fairly high; below that only long heat waves appear. By increasing the temperature the percentage of useful light rays increases.

As long as we only know the way to produce electric light by incandescence we can only increase the efficiency by increasing the working temperature.

Naturally there must be a certain temperature where the percentage of visible radiations reaches the maximum, and this is supposed to be between 4,000 and 5,000 degrees Centigrade. But even at this temperature the efficiency only amounts to about 8 per cent, so that there is an absolute limit in lighting by incandescence.

The familiar electric incandescent lamp consists of a filament of carbon inclosed in a vacuum. The carbon filament is heated by the electric current and forms our hot body. Now, carbon is apparently the most refractory of all substances, its boiling point being about 3,800 degrees Centigrade.

Unfortunately we can not use such a high temperature in the carbon incandescent lamp, for our limit is not the boiling point but the temperature at which the evaporation becomes so great as to limit the life of our lamps. The temperature at which we work carbon in our lamps is about 1,800 degrees.

The efficiency of the incandescent lamp can therefore be increased by using a material which has a lower vapor tension at a higher temperature.

Nernst was the first to devote his attention to the problem and brought out the well-known Nernst lamp. The filament consists principally of zirconia magnesium oxide and a small amount of the oxide of the yttria group.

Great hopes were entertained when the Nernst lamp appeared on the market, but these have not been realized, for the lamp had one great disadvantage which has never been overcome, namely, the filament does not conduct and consequently does not light up at ordinary temperatures.

The success with these experiments led scientists to turn their attention to other rare metals, of which the following have been used with success: tantalum, tungsten, zirconium and iridium.

The tantalum lamp has so far been the most successful of all metallic filament lamps and thousands are now in use in London alone. There is no doubt that within a very short time we shall have at our command metallic filament lamps which form a practical point of view will equal the present carbon lamp and have an efficiency of one watt per candle.

This will be a great achievement, but it will not be the lamp of the future. For as shown in the beginning of this article, we are absolutely limited so long as we cling to incandescent bodies for light production.

Heat, although capable of making a liquid, or solid, incandescent, can not make a gas incandescent, but merely increases its pressure. We can, however, set gas molecules in vibration by chemical reaction or electric stress, such as in done when an electric current is passed through a vacuum tube.

Theoretically, there is no limit to the efficiency of a luminescent gas. Within the last few years good efficiencies have been obtained with the Moore vacuum tube illumination, and this method of light production has a great future before it. The lights of the future will be a lamp giving light without heat and the probabilities are that this will be either a luminescent gas or vapor.

AN AUTUMN IDYL

An autumn leaf—once a fresh, young thing,
All fluttering in the winds of spring,
Like a maiden's heart at love's whispering.
Now, a single spot of green in fields of sere—
Gorgeous in suffering, brilliant with the tear
Of autumn, shed o'er its youthful bier
At the approach of winter.

Smooth to the eye, but on the other side
All seamed and veined with the strong tide
Of sharpening blasts from the mountain side.
So the fresh, young heart, hardened like the leaf
By the world's cold touch, carries with its grief
Oft a proud exterior—youth is but a sheaf
In the harvest of our years.

FALL PLANTING.

From Country Life in America.

Most people imagine that planting the garden is a spring job. Dr. William Miller insists that a lot can be accomplished in the garden in October and even November. He tells what may be safely and profitably planted in the fall and also what may not be planted. He says:

"Don't plant anything in the fall on cold, damp, heavy, poorly drained soil.

"Among fruits, avoid peaches, plums, apricots and nectarines, i. e. the stone fruits. Raspberries may be killed to the ground without loss.

"Among ornamental trees avoid those with punky roots, viz. magnolia, tulip tree and sweet gum. Also the two thin-barked trees, beach and birch.

"Among shrubs, avoid privet, rose of Sharon, (Forsythia viridissima) and Japanese redbud. They may die back more or less but will usually recover quickly if you will prune back to live wood.

"Among perennials, avoid planting peonies after September; and don't plant chrysanthemums, Japanese anemones or yuccas in the fall. Don't plant any newly divided or seedling perennials that will not have three weeks in which to get established before the ground freezes."

PLANS FOR ROAD FAIL

STATE HIGHWAY NOT TO BE BUILT THIS YEAR.

El Paso and Other Counties Figuring on Retrenchments and Money Is Lacking.

According to present prospects, the state highway from the Colorado-New Mexico line to Fort Collins, will not be built this year. The construction of the road is dependent upon the building by each county, through which it passes, of the necessary bridges.

The last legislature appropriated $10,000 for the highway and authorized the use of convict labor in the work. The state engineer's office has been actively engaged in the preliminary plans, and a representative, G. N. Houston, is expected to visit Colorado Springs within a short time to wait upon the county commissioners in regard to the share of work to be done by El Paso county.

Some of the counties through which the road is to pass have not yet shown a willingness to do their part of the work at the present time, and in view of the fact that nearly all of the counties will make a cut in their appropriations this coming year, it is likely that the state highway will be one of the first of the improvements to feel the retrenchment. Although the county commissioners of El Paso county have not yet taken up the question of next year's appropriations in detail, it is understood that they will be among those to cut the appropriation for bridges for the new road.

The state highway is one of the improvements for which a campaign has been conducted by the Good Roads associations, automobilists and others for many years. Until provision was made for the employment of convict labor, the project was not considered feasible, and now many difficulties have caused a further postponement of the construction. Between Denver and Colorado Springs, it was planned to build one of the greatest driveways in the west, the Denver and Colorado Springs automobile clubs having signified their intention of aiding in this section of the road.

REMARKABLE BLIND MAN

J. P. HAMILTON, FAMOUS LECTURER, IN SPRINGS.

Man Who Has Accomplished More Without Sight Than Most Men With All the Senses.

Visiting his brother in this city is one of the country's most remarkable blind men. He is J. Perrine Hamilton of Grand Rapids, Mich., and with his brother, W. A. Hamilton, he is spending several weeks as a guest of another brother, H. A. Hamilton of this city.

The story of Mr. Hamilton's life is a revelation of the accomplishment of many apparently impossible things. When he was 3 years old he was accidentally blinded through the piercing of his eyeball with the point of a pair of shears. Nevertheless, he went through school, and after finishing his high school education, entered Albion college in Albion, Mich., where he took the regular four years' course, graduating with the degree of A. B. After that he went to the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, where he won the degree of master of arts, pursuing there studies in archeology. This is one of the highest collegiate degrees ever taken by a blind person, and Mr. Hamilton is one of the very few blind men who ever entered this field of study.

Two years' study and travel abroad followed the completion of his collegiate training. Much of his time was spent in Athens in attendance at the German and American schools of archeology there. In Athens, Mr. Hamilton was accorded an interview with the queen of Greece, who became much interested in him and his achievements. She wanted him to remain in Athens to found and direct a school for the blind, but he declined the offer. He also studied in Germany and Switzerland, and traveled, in company with his wife, throughout the continent. He is master of six languages.

Upon his return to the United States he went back to Michigan, where he became the founder and later the director of the Industrial School for the Blind of Michigan, an institution which has cost $100,000 and which accomplishes the work for which an industrial school for adults is being projected in Denver.

Four years ago, under the direction of the Santa Fe, he toured the west on a lecture tour, delivering lectures on "What a Blind Man Saw in Europe," and "A Winter in Athens."

But perhaps most remarkable, on top of all his other abilities, has been Mr. Hamilton's success as a business man. Since he was 18 years of age he has been thrown upon his own resources, having made his way through college by piano tuning, tutoring and other work. He has now accumulated a fortune of $20,000. In Grand Rapids, he and his brothers are partners in a leading jewelry house, while he himself conducts a piano store.

TO FIGHT ALL WINTER

COAL MINERS BACKED BY PLENTY OF FUNDS.

Claim Is Made by Officers That Men Are Fully Prepared for Long Battle.

With no prospect for the immediate settlement of the coal strike, it was declared yesterday by local officers of the United Mine Workers of America, that the strike will continue throughout the winter, and even for months longer, in case their demands are not granted. They expect the arrival of cold weather to bring about a change in the situation.

"The strikers are under no hardship," said President Kirby of district No. 15. "The national union is supporting the strike, and the benefits are maintaining all those whom it has deprived of work. The U. M. W. A. has the resources with which to fight this battle here just as long as it may continue. There are at present no big strikes on its hands, and this one, affecting only a small district, is not large enough to cause any serious drain on the national strike reserve funds. It may take months before a settlement is made, but we can better afford to fight it out along these lines than can the operators."

The operators declare that they will be in shape to handle the situation as far as supplying Colorado Springs and vicinity with coal this winter is concerned. They claim now that they are working with a force sufficient to meet all demands and that an output heavy enough to take care of the local market can be maintained.

There have been no changes in the situation at the mines. The forces at work, according to report, have received no additions and have suffered no desertions to the union ranks.

"KING" TO COME SOON

PONY AND RUNABOUT TO ARRIVE THIS WEEK.

Many Boys and Girls of This District Already in Race for Splendid Prize.

"King" will be here within a few days. So will the natty little runabout that, together with the Shetland pony, is to become the Christmas present of the best boy or girl hustler in Colorado Springs, Colorado City and Manitou.

Word was received at The Gazette office yesterday from the express company which is bringing "King" and his outfit to Colorado Springs, that they may be expected the latter part of this week. As soon as they arrive they will be driven around the streets that the boys and girls who have entered The Gazette race may see the reward that is awaiting the most enterprising.

There are a large number of children in Colorado Springs who would like to become the owner of this magnificent outfit. This is indicated by the fact that many have already entered the race and that others are sending in their names every day. Nearly all of those who have thus far signified their intention of securing the pony and outfit have given a substantial indication of their intention by turning in a number of new subscriptions and a batch of coupons.

The third coupon is printed in today's paper. It is good for five points in the race. To those of the boys and girls who have not yet entered the race but who want to get in with the first list of entrants, no better way is open than to secure a batch of coupons from today's paper and, with them as a starter, begin in earnest to prove ability as a hustler.

New subscriptions to The Gazette count, the number of points varying with the nature and length of the subscription.

The race will be over by December 24. Every day counts. If you have entered keep busy. Make each day count more than the one before. If you have not entered, get in before you are handicapped by a late start. The sooner you start work the more chance you have of becoming the owner of "King" and his splendid outfit.

NEWS OF THE LOCAL COURTS

George Carson, who was arrested on a warrant sworn to by L. J. Parker charged with the theft of a pair of opera glasses, was arraigned in the justice court yesterday, and his trial was set for this morning at 10 o'clock.

Kittie Duncan, after seven months of married life, has filed suit in the district court against Joseph Duncan. She charges that Duncan married her only for her money and property, and that he has refused to provide her with both food and light.

In the case of the First National bank of Cripple Creek against the Central Consolidated Mines corporation, the motion of the defendants that the plaintiff make the complaint more specific, was granted yesterday.

Suit for the recovery of $137.75, alleged to be due for physician's services was filed in the county court yesterday by John H. Ferguson against Ainslie Conacher.

The cases of A. L. Fugit and C. A. Fugit, in which C. L. Dyer is the intervening defendant, were filed in the county court yesterday on appeal from Justice Dunnington's court. Both are money demands for wages, which were allowed in the justice court, but in which Dyer's claims were recognized. The first case was for $6.40 and costs, while the second was for $143.63 and costs.

INSTITUTION FOR COLORED MEN IS ASSURED.

Property at Corner of Costilla and Weber Streets Transferred to Trustee Jones.

Negotiations for the purchase of the site for the Y. M. C. A. for colored men were completed yesterday when the papers were signed transferring the property at the corner of Costilla and Weber streets from M. A. Ege to Adam Jones, trustee for the new association. The purchase price for the property, which includes lot 16, block 183, together with a seven and a three-room house, was $4,000.

The association is to take possession on December 1, and it is planned to fit up the two houses for temporary use, a night school and a cafe being among the departments which will be first established. For this purpose the colored men have issued a general request for anything that may be of service in furnishing the new buildings.

It is planned, as soon as the necessary funds can be raised, to erect a permanent $25,000 building on the site. The ways and means committee, which is in charge of the project, is composed of Adam Jones, president; E. P. Boose, James Macon, L. L. Duncan, Samuel Fleming and W. H. Green.

WIFE REDEEMS PROPERTY.

After Five Years of Litigation Damage Claim Is Settled.

Sheriff O. P. Grimes yesterday issued a certificate of redemption for a piece of property that has been in litigation for the last five years. In 1902 the Houston Lumber company filed suit against Mahlon Lichty et al. for the foreclosure of a mechanic's lien on a piece of property, the west 100 feet of lot 8, block 313, addition No. 2 to Colorado Springs. On September 2, 1902, the district court awarded damages of $905.57 and costs to the lumber company. The case was taken to the supreme court, which in August of this year affirmed the decision of the lower court. A special execution was issued and the property sold, but yesterday Artinza Lichty, wife of Mahlon Lichty, redeemed the property at a valuation of $1,250, considerably above that given it in the court's judgment.

FIX LEVY NOVEMBER 18

In Meantime Aldermen Are Open to Suggestions.

Before the city tax levy is fixed for the coming year, taxpayers of the city will be given an opportunity to discuss the question with the aldermen. The levy will be fixed at the regular Council meeting, Monday, November 18, the finance committee meeting with the other aldermen in committee of the whole next Monday. It seems now practically certain that the levy will have to be increased to at least 15 mills.

A Simple Prescription For Stomach Troubles

One That Can Be Mixed at Home.

Here is a simple prescription that will tone your stomach and put it in condition to digest your food:

Compound Tincture of Cinchona, one ounce; Prosene Compound, one ounce, and Sherry Wine, half a pint; mix together and take one teaspoonful before meals and at bedtime in a wine glass full of water.

This prescription can be put up by any druggist.

The Prosene Compound in this prescription is a compound of digestive ferments and the best vegetable tonics known to medical science; they increase the secretions of the gastric juices and increase their digestive power.

We advise that if you are troubled with your stomach you get this prescription filled at your drug store and give it a trial.

"JUST OUT OF COLLEGE"

George Ade's comedy, "Just Out of College," will have its first presentation in this city at the Opera House on next Monday evening. The story is that of a young, impecunious college graduate, who aspires to the hand of the daughter of a wealthy pickle manufacturer. The latter at first demurs, but afterward promises to give his consent providing the young man demonstrates his worth by making good use of $20,000 which he loans him. The money is used in promoting a rival pickle factory, which is ultimately bought up by the combination headed by the old man at about 10 times its actual value. This is where the young man, just out of college, shows his ability as a financier. He returns the $20,000 that he borrowed and marries the girl; but not until after he has had a most strenuous time of it. Between business and love, he has been the most active man in the community. In addition to this love romance, there are three similar affairs going on at the same time.

Every part in the play is said to be a distinct characterization, and in Mr. Ade's happiest vein.

THE "ISLE OF SPICE"

One of the best musical attractions of the season, the "Isle of Spice," will appear at the Opera House tomorrow evening. No advance in prices. An Ogden exchange in speaking of this company says: One of the best musical organizations seen on the Grand Opera house stage this season was the "Isle of Spice," presented last night by a capable company composed of clever artists, a strong chorus, a lot of pretty girls and beautiful scenery. The show is brighter than the "Yankee Regent," more piquant than the "Royal Chef," and as pleasing as "The Time, the Place and the Girl," or "The Alaskan." It contains many features rarely seen in a western production, viz: three comedians that are clever and give good comedy and many sensational acts.

The scene of the musical mixture is laid in some mythical island off the coast of Japan. By a treaty with Washington, the ports of the island have been opened to the world. Upon the day of the arrival of the American gunboat, a couple of sailors desert and attempt to escape in a balloon. Through some mishap to the aerial ship, its occupants make a hasty descent and find themselves in the court yard of the royal palace. Complications ensue, but the arrival of the American marines puts everything to rights.

SURGERY FOR INSANITY.

London Correspondence New York Sun

The question of curing insanity by surgical operation was dealt with by Dr. Bernard Hollander, the well-known alienist, in a lecture before the British Phrenological society.

Some time ago Dr. Hollander published in medical journals here details of a case of mental derangement which he had cured by trephining. Since then he had continued his investigations in that direction.

Today he gave other instances in support of his contention that insanity, especially in its early stages, does not involve the whole brain, but only limited, particular areas, and that it is often amenable to surgical treatment.

Business, Pleasure

or anything that excites and exhausts the brain nerves, causes headache. Some persons cannot even attend church, theaters, ride on cars, or on the water, or go where there is the least excitement without an attack. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, taken as directed, will stop the pain. To avoid suffering take one as soon as you feel an attack coming on. Your druggist can tell you of many who would not be without them.

"I have been troubled with severe headaches for many years. I began to use Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. It is the only remedy that has given me or my family any relief. I do not now have such spells, because when I feel one coming on I immediately take one of the tablets, never more than one is required, they are so effective, and I appreciate them so thoroughly I always have them with me. My wife and family always use them, cannot do without them."
S. A. GARDNER, Janesville, Wis.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first package will benefit. If it fails, he will return your money. 25 doses, 25 cents. Never sold in bulk.

Crying for Help

Lots of It In Colorado Springs, But Daily Growing Less.

The kidneys cry for help.

Not an organ in the whole body so delicately constructed.

Not one so important to health.

The kidneys are the filters of the blood.

When they fail the blood becomes foul and poisonous.

There can be no health where there is poisoned blood.

Backache is one of the first indications of kidney trouble.

Doan's Kidney Pills are what is wanted.

Are just what overworked kidneys need.

They strengthen and invigorate the kidneys, help them to do their work, never fail to cure any case of kidney disease.

Read the proof from a Colorado Springs citizen.

Mrs. T. O. Pence, 421 South Weber street, Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are without doubt a reliable remedy. Mr. Pence suffered some time from pain in his back and loins which had caused him a great deal of suffering and inconvenience. He procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the D. T. Butcher Drug Co.'s store and received wonderful benefit from their use. I have used Doan's Kidney Pills myself, and the results have been just as satisfactory as in my husband's case.

MAKES HIT WITH BIG AUDIENCE

"The Time, the Place and the Girl" Is Well Above Average. Catchy Music.

"The Time, the Place and the Girl" attracted an audience to the Opera House last night that filled every seat, but that was only the beginning. It made a hit, a very pronounced hit, that sent everybody away humming the catchy airs and repeating as many of the brightest jokes and witty sallies as they could remember. To recall all of them would be impossible, for the play is crammed full of good things from start to finish. There is enough of a plot to keep it going, even without music, and it is enlivened with crisp dialogue and delightfully funny situations. The songs are exceptionally good, especially "Thursday Is My Jonah Day," sung by Johnny, and "I Don't Like Your Family," by Margaret.

The play is elaborately staged and in every respect is a higher class product than is usually seen on the road. John E. Young as "Happy" Johnny Hicks, the "Square" Gambler, has a deliciously droll way of saying funny things that wins the audience straightaway. Jessie Huston as Margaret Simpson—"The Girl"—is a saucy, vivacious young woman with an effective way of singing her songs. Molly Kelly, head nurse at the sanatorium, played by Elizabeth Goodall, has some of the brightest lines in the play. Miss Goodall is a beauty who can look stunning without the aid of handsome gowns.

BOWERY MOURNS "OLD DOC."

Grieved by Death of Familiar and Picturesque Character Who Came From South.

From the New York Evening Sun.

"Old Doc" is dead.

Not since "Tim" Sullivan's memorable chowder has anything happened on the Bowery affecting so many.

The Bowery knew little about "Old Doc" except that his name was Charles Singleton, that he hailed from "somewhere down south," and that every spring he came among them after periodical disappearances that were measured only by the changes of season.

The aristocracy came to its own with the annual return of "Old Doc." The event was always one to be marked with a white stone and set down in the calendar as a red-letter day same as Independence day and Christmas are regarded elsewhere. There wasn't any music and there were no cheering hosts, but when the familiar figure was seen in the wide-brimmed southern hat, with the long gray hair peeping out at the sides, the worn Prince Albert coat, the Powhatan pipe with its weichsel stem held between the teeth at the same old angle and Andrew Jackson, as he called his stout hickory stick, the word flashed along the Bowery with magic swiftness and the gang was waiting at the curbstone with open arms to receive him. The Alligator, the One-Mile house and all the resorts of the aristocracy heard the news simultaneously.

But the Bowery lost its angel this morning, when Policeman McLaughlin, of the Eldridge Street station, found "Old Doc" lying on the sidewalk in front of 209 Bowery, nearly done for. He died just as the ambulance clattered up. Every old campaigner along Misery's Mile knew it as he drank his "morning's morning," and gloomily wondered, "Who will be the next?"

Charles Singleton became part and parcel of the Bowery six years ago. He had been a physician and had cured the ailments of many, but his own he could not cure, and it was this that laid him low this morning.

The Bowery received him because he was good to it, and it never asked where he came from, nor whither he went in the winter season. Minding its own business is a virtue of the Bowery. That is why so many who hate to stare the dead past in the face find ready refuge there.

"Old Doc" invariably stayed at the Alabama. He used to say it was a "good southern name," and the Bowery, by some species of intuition, learned that Alabama was his native state. He was a welcome guest, for he always paid a month in advance. Then, from spring to fall, the tap, tap of "Andrew Jackson" was heard along Misery's Mile, and where "Old Doc" and "Andrew Jackson" went material cheer followed.

"Old Doc" was lavish in his generosity. He was also the good Samaritan who bound up the district's wounds and ministered to it when illness befell.

Ofttimes the six-foot giant in all his picturesqueness, with the Powhatan glowing and "Andrew Jackson" pointing out his arguments, might be seen leaning against some elevated railroad pillar, the center of a group of listeners, dispensing wisdom and good advice. Somehow the silent dead were always galvanized into temporary activity under the influence and council of "Old Doc." The battered and bruised he piloted to the drug stores and ministered to with professional skill. That was all the more welcome, for they who live along the highway fear the hospitals with a strange, unreasoning fear, as a man in good health might fear pestilence.

When the winds blew cold and the trees in the park carpeted the lawns and the walks with foliage, "Old Doc" likewise discarded the raiment of spring and summer and put them away with "an uncle" until a new year. Then he picked up his few belongings and went "to the friends in the south," who took care of him. The next spring, about at the time the trees in the parks put forth new shoots, and with the same regularity, "Old Doc" blossomed out in a new Prince Albert, a new wide-brimmed hat, but still with his ancient and inseparable friends, "Andrew Jackson" and the Powhatan pipe.

Last spring his brethren along the Bowery noticed a change. There were lines of trouble in "Old Doc's" usually cheery face and he was more silent than ever he had been. When anyone approached him to ask the reason for it he simply replied: "When my dear mother died"— That was all they could get out of him, and nobody probed deeper except one inquisitive, who had the temerity to ask:

"Why did you ever come to the Bowery?"

At that "Andrew Jackson" wavered unsteadily for a moment, and "Old Doc" replied with a faraway voice: "If I should tell you that you would know much. You would then know as much as I do."

BALKED AT A WOMAN.

From the New York Sun.

A Sixth avenue department store has in its employ a woman whose ability finally gained for her a place of such importance that many persons were forced to apply to her for a situation. On her judgment depended the fate of men seeking work in the grocery department, the rug department and the picture department. Soon it was noticed that the demand in the labor market was exceeding the supply. One day the proprietors of the store found themselves short of help. One of the managers set out to discover the cause of scarcity of labor.

"There are plenty of men who want this kind of work," said one clerk, "but they just can't bring themselves to the point of applying to a woman for a situation. I wouldn't be here myself if I hadn't got this place before Miss A was raised to present place. It's bad enough to have to work alongside of women at equal wages without having to beg for a job. That's something that no man with a grain of sand in his disposition is going to stand for."

IN AN ELEVATED STATION.

From the New York Sun.

It takes a pretty glum porter not to enjoy the Park Place elevated station. Most of them grin as much the day they arrive as the day they arrive, and it's all on account of the turnstile. One-half of the passengers who leave the train with a rush dash down the aisle to the turnstile, and then, abashed and confused, they turn, retrace their steps and exit on the proper side. Sometimes the same persons do this time after time; it's the sort of thing you simply can't remember, and it is also the sort of thing you can't forgive yourself for doing. Principally because everyone else so doles on this particular sort of performance, a man whose sense of humor awakes at nothing else stops and chuckles when his dearest friend flies to the wrong side of the turnstile. Some day an Irishman will go down that aisle and he will argue with that turnstile and he may break it, and then perhaps we may have an open passage with a ticket chopper patiently chopping tickets.

Those who pour out their hearts never empty them.

BECOMING A MOTHER

Is an ordeal which all women approach with indescribable fear, for nothing compares with the pain and horror of child-birth. The thought of the suffering and danger in store for her, robs the expectant mother of all pleasant anticipations of the coming event, and casts over her a shadow of gloom which cannot be shaken off. Thousands of women have found that the use of Mother's Friend during pregnancy robs confinement of all pain and danger, and insures safety to life of mother and child. This scientific liniment is a god-send to all women at the time of their most critical trial. Not only does Mother's Friend carry women safely through the perils of child-birth, but its use gently prepares the system for the coming event, prevents "morning sickness," and other discomforts of this period. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Book containing valuable information free.

PLANTS ARE SUCCESS

LOW GRADE ORE BEING TREATED PROFITABLY.

Mills in Cripple Creek Are Handling Large Quantity of Rock—Handsome Monthly Profit.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 6.—Several cyanide mills, located throughout the Cripple Creek district, are treating low grade and oxidized ore most successfully, and are making a handsome monthly profit. The Isabella, Phoenix, Ironclad and Jo Dandy plants are those that are now operating to the advantage of the owners. The Vindicator test plant, while only attempting to handle some 20 tons per day, is also doing nicely.

The plant, however, which is making the record for the camp, is the Isabella mill, located on Isabella territory on Bull hill. A gold retort was taken Saturday which weighed 37 pounds and had an estimated value of $8,880, the result of 30 days' work. There was handled through the Isabella mill approximately 3,000 tons of dump rock exclusively, which had an average gross value of $3. The Isabella mill is treating about this amount of ore every month, and it is mostly profit, for the ore has lain on the dump for a number of years, and was of too low grade to ship, and in fact could not be handled until General Manager Kilburn built the cyanide mill less than one year ago.

There is estimated to be enough ore on the dump alone to keep the Isabella mill running for 10 years, and there is known to be practically an inexhaustible supply of oxidized and low grade ore in the mine, that can keep the plant going another decade, after the dump is run through the plant. Besides this, the Isabella mine is shipping out a large quantity of ore that is of smelter grade. In fact, the best average grade and the largest shoots ever found in the mine have been uncovered during the past six months.

The work on the Stratton Independence mill is being pushed as rapidly as possible, and it is expected it will be completed and ready to handle ore in the course of several months. The Triby plant is also being rushed to completion as fast as workmen can do it. Other companies are seriously considering the advisability of building plants early the coming spring.

SHIPPING TO RESUME

SHAFT OF SCHOOL SECTION ABOUT COMPLETED.

Almost Twenty Thousand Tons Broken Down Waiting to Be Hoisted and Treated.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 6.—The School Section Leasing company has nearly completed sinking the shaft and will probably begin making shipments of ore during the next 30 days. This company, which has taken out a quarter of a million dollars gross, closed down when the Golden Cycle mill was destroyed, but as it is now generally believed the Cycle plant will begin receiving ore within 30 days, preparations are being made by several mines to resume shipping.

It is estimated that the School Section Leasing company has between the second and fourth levels upwards of 20,000 tons of ore broken down awaiting to be hoisted, sorted and treated. The ore has an average value of about $35 in gold to the ton. Very little development work has ever been done in the lower workings, owing to the water conditions, but as the company has one of the most powerful pumping plants in the district, work can be done when desired.

WILL RUN $50 TO THE TON.

Carload of Screenings From Half Moon Is Shipped Out.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 6. Relton and company, operating on the Half Moon of the Matoa company, on Gold hill, are now sending out to the mill one car of ore a week. This ore is being mined in a shallow shaft and the ore is giving returns of about $30 in gold to the ton. A carload of screenings was shipped today and ought to give values of from $40 to $50 in gold to the ton.

These same lessees are leasing on the Brooklyn claim of the Stratton estate, on Bull hill, and are making occasional shipments of ore from a three-foot vein which was uncovered at an approximate depth of 100 feet. The ore from the Brooklyn runs a trifle less than two ounces in gold to the ton.

TRANSACTIONS LIMITED

VOLUME OF TRADING IN STOCKS SMALL.

Strong Upward Tendency of Prices Good Evidence of Returning Confidence.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The small volume of transactions in stocks today was the index of how far financial conditions still hamper the conduct of operation in the market, but the strong upward tendency of prices was a convincing evidence of the returning confidence of values of securities. Brokers on the floor of the stock exchange summed up the situation by saying that stocks were scarce. This was shown not only in the diminished pressure to sell, but continued mania in the execution of buying orders, when prices were bid up. Commission houses reported the receipt of some buying orders for stocks accumulated in offices over the holiday interval, some of which were for execution with specification of price limits, but others to buy at the market price. It was on this class of orders that the marked scarcity of stocks was demonstrated.

The ruthless closing out of weak accounts, which has been going on through the money crisis, leaves very little of that kind of clearing up to be done, even of the kind of accounts which are carried through an ordinary market flurry, with conditions attached implying liquidation at the first favorable opportunity. Of another class of left-over accounts there was some influence felt today, namely, stocks taken on by powerful financiers in periods of demoralization to check it and to support values. Reselling of this kind was discerned at the advance today, according to the opinion of skilled observers in the board room.

The response of the bond market to the brighter outlook was as decided as that for stocks. The response there was more in the nature of a price readjustment on mere nominal dealings. Prices at which bonds have been forced to sell under pressure of recall of loans by marketing of collateral or by sales of bonds to protect unmarketable collateral are not accepted as the measure of true value of the bonds. There was a wide readjustment of prices all through the bond list on these lines. The action of the securities market was regarded as the natural effect of the clearing of the financial horizon.

The money market showed the effect of the arrival of the first consignment of over $7,000,000 of imported gold, and the scarcity of currency was reported somewhat relieved from the same cause. The premium on currency was not so high as last week.

The trust company situation was definitely disposed of as a threatening factor at the outcome of the long conferences on the subject extending over election day and into last night. The assurance of adequate measures of support to protect the trust companies was accepted, and did much to inspire belief that confidence would be restored at an early day, and relaxation followed from the tieup of resources, purely due to distrust, and not at all to actual lack of facilities.

The passing of control of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company to the United States Steel corporation had a strengthening effect on the stocks of that corporation, but it was considered of even greater importance in the opening of a method of settlement for trust company conditions by substitution of more readily marketable collateral for loans in that field.

The condition of the engagement of gold for import gave promise of still further relief for money conditions. The violent relapse in prices of sterling exchange represented an adjustment to the declining premium for currency here and left conditions still open to the inward movement of gold. The prospect of a 7 per cent Bank of England discount rate, which came up for discussion later in the day, seems not to impair confidence that the gold import movement will continue. Anxiety over the New York situation being allayed, attention is turning to the outside situation. Suspensions of small interior banks made a bad impression, and a failure in the New England cotton goods trade even more so. The latter influence caused considerable reaction late in the day.

Bonds were buoyant in tone. Total sales, par value, $2,766,000. United States 3s, coupon, advanced ¼ per cent on call.

WHEAT PRICES BREAK

RUMORS OF FINANCIAL EMBARRASSMENT CAUSE.

Closing of Minneapolis Flour Mills Depressing Influence Corn, Oats, Provisions Lower.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Wheat prices on the local exchange broke more than 2 cents today because of rumors of financial embarrassment in different parts of the country and the reported closing of several flour mills at Minneapolis. At the close, December showed a net loss of 2⅝c; corn was down 1¼c; oats were 1¼c lower, and provisions were off 22½ cents, to 35 cents.

The market was weak all day. The chief causes of the decline at the opening were lower prices at Liverpool and the reported closing of a number of mills in the northwest. The weakness became more acute in the last half of the session on rumors that various small banks throughout the country are not in easy circumstances. The market lacked bull support, the demand coming largely from shorts. Sellers were extremely aggressive in the last half hour, and the market closed weak, with prices at about the bottom. December opened a shade to ⅜@½ lower, at 94⅛ to 95, sold at 95¼ and then declined to 92⅝. The close was at 92¾@⅞. May ranged between $1.01⅝ and $1.03⅞, and closed at $1.01⅝@¾.

Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 686,390 bushels. The world's visible supply, as shown by Bradstreet's, increased 1,850,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 873,000 bushels, against 2,327,000 bushels on the same day last year. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 535 cars, against 590 cars last week and 1,215 cars one year ago.

Corn declined nearly 2 cents in sympathy with a sharp break in provisions, and on favorable crop reports from Kansas. Talk of 4-cent hogs was also an influence. The market closed weak at the lowest point. December opened ¼ to ⅜ lower, at 59⅝ to ¾, sold at 59⅞ and then declined to 58⅛ where it closed. Local receipts were 87 cars, with 25 of contract grade.

Trade in oats was very light. The slump in wheat and corn and a weak market for cash grain were the bearish factors. December opened ⅝c lower at 49½, sold at 49⅞ and then declined to 45⅝c, where it closed. Local receipts were 87 cars.

Provisions broke sharply on heavy selling by leading packers. The greatest weakness was in January pork, which declined 75 cents from the close of yesterday. A weak market for hogs and the prediction by a prominent local packer that hogs would soon be selling at 4 cents per pound were the weakening factors. At the close, January pork was down 75c, at $13.20; lard was off 22½c, at $7.95; ribs were 25@27½c lower, at $7.05@$7.07½.

Commence to Build Your Fortune With 10 Dollars

All great fortunes had a small beginning. You have read of it lots of times and have numerous evidences of it right here in your own lovely city, but never thought you could do it. But you can. You doubtless know of somebody who took up a piece of real estate a few years ago that he has since sold at a big profit, or has built on it, and now simply collects his rents. You may think and say that was just plain luck. It was luck to find the piece of ground that his judgment and foresight told him would be profitable. Just the kind of luck you can share in. The kind of luck that has made the greatest fortunes in the United States fortunes that are each year growing larger without any effort or worry on the part of the owners. The kind of luck that will make your succeeding generations independent.

We are offering an opportunity for YOU to save and invest in the RAPID GROWTH of Colorado Springs, America's "Jeweled City of Glorious Sunshine by Day and Brilliant With Electric Lights by Night," such as you may never have again.

Judging from the rapid increase in the value of Colorado Springs real estate during the past few years, the present price we are selling the interests in the 500 lots in Addition No. 2 in West Colorado Springs will seem ridiculously low in a very short time.

This is perhaps the last opportunity you will ever have to secure lots in West Colorado Springs at the present sacrifice price of $150.00, subject to a discount of 6 per cent for all cash or $10.00 down and $10.00 a month. No charge for deed, no interest, no taxes until after you obtain your deed, and don't forget that the Colorado Title and Trust Co. guarantees a perfect title to all these 500 lots.

Buy All the Land You Can Carry in a Growing and Prosperous City

is safe advice to act on. Building lots in the most beautiful residence city, surrounded with the greatest scenic grandeur in the world, affords absolute safety and sure profit. The growth of Colorado Springs in the past decade and the steady stream of population increasing from year to year demand more buildings for business and homes. Instead of increasing by a family or two at a time, hundreds of new families are added each year. The railroad officials tell us that in this season alone something like 1,200 have taken up their residence here, as evidenced by the uncalled for return railroad tickets in their offices. To meet the crying need for more cottage homes to house these hundreds coming and seeking homes in your delightful city we are offering you this splendid property, which you can buy at a cost of only 36 cents a day, on which you can build, and your houses will rent well and sell readily. Don't delay, act wisely and at once. This is a small addition and will go quickly.

FRANKLIN ON VALUE

Do you need someone to urge you to pick up a dollar if you find it at your feet?

The propositions we have in COLORADO SPRINGS REALTY is a chance to pick up dollars.

VALUE means getting ALL you pay for or MORE than you pay for; it doesn't make any difference whether you pay $1,000 or $10,000 for a property. THE THING that concerns you is—Am I getting my money's worth? Did YOU ever stop to consider that among REAL ESTATE FIRMS THERE MUST BE SOME leaders—some who know more and accomplish more than others? THE MORE YOU WILL INVESTIGATE THE MORE YOU WILL KNOW.

Read and CONSIDER, then come to OUR office and let us show you the following bargains.

INSTITUTE STREET BARGAIN.

$2,500—Five rooms strictly modern except heat, large lot facing east, 50x150; this is a new house just completed, and must be seen to be appreciated.

WILLAMETTE STREET BARGAIN.

$2,600—Seven rooms, modern except heat, large lot, nice lawn and plenty of good outbuildings, only half block from car line and only about eight blocks from postoffice; a snap at the price, and must be sold this week if you want it for this money.

UINTAH STREET BARGAIN.

$3,500—Buys this beautiful home of six rooms, if taken at once; house is strictly modern in every respect; nice lawn, close to car line and in one of the best residence districts of Colorado Springs.

WAHSATCH STREET BARGAIN.

$4,250—Eight rooms, strictly modern, lot 50x140, one of the best investments ever offered in Colorado Springs. You should not fail to come and go with us and look this proposition over. This place must be sold this week, or she goes off the market.

These are properties that we picked up in "mooching" around, and they are business getters for us and money makers for you.
